ROCK HILL---Winthrop College has been named a winner in the 1976 School and College Publications contest sponsored by Nation's Schools Report magazine. A third place award was given the Information Service office for a brochure describing the College of Arts and Sciences

The publication features a cover graphic of a page from Leonardo de Vinci's sketchbook superimposed over students in a Winthrop classroom. Inside copy and photos describe degree programs within the College of Arts and Sciences. The brochure was designed by Jan Millsapps of Information Service.

More than 1500 publications were entered in the national contest, representing schools, colleges, state education departments and school board associations.

472 entries were judged award winners.

"I'm doing this because I think it's the job of the community to try to help these kids," said Spencer Thompson of Mecklenburg Court Volunteers (MCV). Thompson, 30, of 8901-D Nations Ford Road, contacted MCV after reading about the program in a local daily newspaper. MCV is a volunteer organization formed to reduce the number of repeat criminal offenders

By involving interested citizens in the criminal justice system, the organization seeks to expand the effectiveness of professional court counselors and probation officers. Volunteers work on a one-to-one basis with a young offender.

"You have to keep re-assuring him that you're not the 'bust man'," said Thompson. He added that many youths are fatherless or motherless and have various problems. Some have committed crimes but are not hardened crimi-
