Sybil Morgan

To Chair AACC

Workshop

By Hoyle H. Martin Sr.
Post Executive Editor

Sybil Morgan, assistant professor of nursing at UNC-Charlotte, has been nominated by the American Association for the Care of Children to organize and direct an ethnic minority cultural workshop at the association's 1978 meeting to be held in Washington, D.C.

Ms. Morgan, founder of the association's Charlotte chapter, was nominated as workshop leader for next year as a result of her outstanding contribution on a panel at this year's meeting which dealt with the culture of the black family. It was her expressed concern for example, of the tendency to stereotype blacks that led to next year's workshop being broadened to deal with all ethnic minorities.

The association, which met in Dearborn, Michigan, May 21-26, is an interdisciplinary organization committed to the care of all children.

Ms. Morgan, a graduate of Winston-Salem State University, was one of 1,500 participants in this year's association meeting. Fifty blacks were in attendance with Ms. Morgan being one of four North Carolina representatives and the only black Tar Heel in attendance.

While not having children of her own, Ms. Morgan has a strong commitment to the philosophical beliefs of AACC and the care of children generally that she financed all expenses involved for her trip and participation in the association's meeting. This was due to such expenses exceeding the local chapter's financial status.

Ms. Morgan is a trustee and member of the United Memorial Presbyterian Church and active in the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

77 Executive

Center To Get

New Buildings

Peter M. Small, Vice President, Southeast Region, Spaulding and Slye Corporation announced that construction has begun on the third and fourth buildings at 77 Executive Center. 77 Executive Center is a master planned 52 acre office park located at the intersection of Interstate 77 and Tyvola Road. The office park complex will ultimately contain over 500,000 square feet of office space developed on both a multi-tenant and single user basis.
