To Attend NBA

Convention

By Jeri Harvey
Post Staff Writer
Walter Tucker, Vice President of Mechanics and Farmers Bank, will attend the 50th annual convention of the National Bankers Association (NBA) when it meets in Houston, Texas October 11 - 15. Tucker served a term as president of the group in 1971.

With a theme of "Fifty Years of Service," the convention is expected to be one of the largest in the Association's history. All meetings will be held at the Sheraton-Houston Hotel. NBA also includes banks owned by women.

Co-hosts of the convention are Dr. Carl M. Carroll, President, Riverside National Bank, and Clarence Calloway, Director, King State Bank, both of Houston.

Among the convention keynote speakers are Vernon Jordan, Executive Director of the National Urban League, and John G. Heimann, Comptroller of the Currency. Jordan, who will speak at the opening session on Wednesday morning, October 12, will report on the recent Black leadership summit meeting and outline the crises facing blacks, other minorities and the poor.

NBA President James C. Purnell, President, Liberty Bank of Seattle, described the convention agenda as "substantive and serious."

"Minority banks, as is the minority community, are facing some critical issues which will be discussed with key representatives of the Carter Administration, the Federal Government and private industry. We will take a close look at the state of the economy and, more specifically, how to improve and strengthen the financial position of our minority banks," Purnell said.

Other subject areas which will be discussed at the convention include: "Marketing the Minority Bank Deposit Program - Initiatives by the Department of the Treasury," "Characteristics of High Earning Banks," "The Outlook for Business, Banking, and Bank Capital," "The Present Economy-How It Affects Small Banks," and "Executive Stress."
