concerned primarily with handicapped persons. These handicapped individuals are recommended by the State Vocational Department of Rehabilitation to Goodwill for rehabilitation, evaluation, work-adjustment training, and eventually competitive employment. Goodwill's Job Placement Program has successfully placed handicapped individuals in television and radio repair, cashiers, file clerks, maintenance, and as maids.

With these grants, Goodwill purchased Hester Systems Testing Equipment invented by Dr. Ed Hester of Chicago, who is a specialist in the rehabilitation of handicapped individuals.

"Goodwill will be sending two of their evaluators to Chicago to acquire valuable information about the testing equipment that will make their testing system the best of its kind in the two Carolinas," said Jeri Morse of Goodwill.

Guys And Dolls, Inc

Observes Founder's Day

On Sunday, October 30, Beta Chapter of Guys and Dolls, Inc. observed the founding of its national organization.

The observance was culminated with a concert, given by four of its chapter members, and centered around the theme, "We Walk With God." The beautiful and warm sanctuary of the C.N. Jenkins Memorial United Presbyterian Church provided an ideal setting for the brilliant soprano voices of Dolls Angela Little and Delorese Hill, the captivating richness of tenor Preston Hill and the depth and warmth of baritone Charles Crump. The performance of the participants was superbly supported by the very capable accompaniment of Mr. William Lindsay.

The concert was preceded by an organ medley of well-known hymns played by Guy Samuel Hill. The program was drawn to a close with a reception in the fellowship hall of the church at which time a display of achievement of Beta Chapter was viewed.

The observance of Founder's Day is an annual event that takes place in October and may be executed in whatever manner each chapter chooses.

This year's observance was coordinated by Doll Mae Little, as Chairperson, with Doll Vincie Dunham and Guys John Glenn and Preston Hill as committee members.

Guys and Dolls, Inc. is a family organization committed to promoting a program of social awareness, achievement and travel.
