Howard Lee
Citizens from all across North Carolina, including Mecklenburg County, are expected to attend the Annual Recognition Banquet and Workshops February 10-11 in Raleigh sponsored by the North Carolina Human Relations Council. Benjamin Kootsher of Charlotte said he is expecting a good turnout for the event, the first to be held in several years.

The event will begin Friday, February 10 with a luncheon featuring the keynote address by Secretary of Natural Resources and Community Development Howard Lee. Workshops will be held Friday afternoon and Saturday morning with a general session slated Saturday afternoon. The Recognition Banquet is set for 6:15 p.m. Saturday with Governor Jim Hunt presenting the address. All events will be held at the Jane S. McKinnon Center at North Carolina State University.

Five awards will be presented by the Council for outstanding service in the field of human relations and special honor will be given to the late Dr. R. Irving Boone, former member of the Council, to the late Dr. Charlie B. Sessom, former Chairman, Durham Human Relations Commission, and to Dr. John R. Larkins, Special Assistant to Governor Hunt.

Benjamin Kootsher reports limited seating for the event and urges local citizens interested in attending to call (704) 334-3035 or 333-5241 for more information. "We would like a big crowd from Mecklenburg County," Benjamin Kootsher said, "but persons must make arrangements for reservations right away to insure a ticket."

A registration charge of $15.00 will cover a luncheon, the Recognition Banquet, coffee breaks and all workshops. Interested citizens may also make reservations by calling the North Carolina Human Relations Council in Raleigh at (919) 733-7996.

Roebuck Grant

SALISBURY - Eugene Myers, a representative of the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, presented a check to Dr. F. George Shipman, President of Livingstone College, today at a special presentation on the Livingstone College campus.

The North Carolina colleges and universities are among almost 1,000 private accredited two and four year institutions across the country which are sharing in $1,500,000 in Sears Foundation funds for the 1977-78 academic year. Funds may be used unrestrictedly as the colleges and universities deem necessary.

Grants totalling more than $48,000.00 will be distributed to 39 privately supported colleges and universities in North Carolina this week by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

In the Salisbury area, Catawba College and Livingstone College will receive grants totalling $2,526.00.

In addition to its unrestricted grant program, the Sears-Roebuck Foundation each year conducts a variety of special-purpose programs in elementary, secondary, higher, and continuing education. Altogether, the Foundation had expenditures of over $2,500,000.00 in 1977 for its education activities.
