Sunday School Lesson

Rev. Waylon Wallace

Greetings fellow-Bible Students! The subject of our lesson this week is "The Joy Of Faith In The Lord." Psalms 34 and 146 from the basis for this lesson, with Ps. 146 serving as the text.

The Psalmist makes a grand resolve to praise the Lord. His call to worship begins at the right place, that is with himself. This resolution reveals to us that the writer realized the existence of his soul. He realized that remained restless without the peace that comes from harmony with God. He discovered that this harmony required the worship of God. He saw that he must rouse himself for worship. The reason so many are unable to experience the joy of worship is that they are waiting for someone else to do for them what they must do for themselves. Whereas singing may be a part of our expression in worship, many require that the church arouse them to worship. Others require this of the preacher, the prayers or the testifiers. But, no one can enter the door for us. As the old saying goes, "if you don't put anything in, you can't get anything out." We ought to come prepared for worship, expecting something to happen and taking action based upon that expectation. The person who knows the joy of faith in God can experience the ecstasy of worship at any place, at any time.

Part of the worship experience is a visualization, though incomplete, of some characteristic or attribute to God. This visualization causes us to immediately see our own personal inadequacies and then the frailties of others about us. On this occasion the Psalmist saw how reliable God is and how unreliable humankind is. We fail each other not because we are so mean all the time, but because we are so weak. Our bodies die. Our vision and knowledge is short. We are limited by time and space.

The Psalmist declares joyous children of God's faithful folk. This joy finds its soul

Charlottetown Mall To Host Fair

On February 24th - all day - Charlottetown Mall will be hosting the Junior Achievement Trade Fair. Approximately 18 companies are expected to set up shop to display and sell their wares. Junior Achievement is the nation's oldest youth economic education program. It teaches high school students the principles of the American free enterprise system by helping them run their own small businesses.

About 85 percent of JA companies are manufacturing companies. Their product list is almost endless, but can include ecology boxes, desk pen sets, automobile trouble lights, lamps, silkscreened T-shirts, and other products. A JA service company can be a newspaper, auditing firm, radio or TV company, modeling agency, or a bank to handle the financial transaction of other JA companies.

Dr. Joseph A. Gaston, Vice President for Student Affairs at Johnson C. Smith University has been elected as Moderator of The Catawba Presbyterian Church, USA. Following in succession of Rev. Moses Belton, Dr. Gaston will remain as the presiding official for a period of one year.

The Catawba Presbytery, of which Dr. Gaston moderates, covers the geographic areas of approximately 10 counties in the piedmont area of North Carolina. There are three United Presbytery areas in North Carolina and one in the southern part of Virginia that work jointly together to carry out the functions of 34 United Presbyterian Churches and 5 ministries.

As moderator, Dr. Gaston will preside the four annual meetings of the Presbytery, as well as the special meetings that are called. When asked about his feelings toward the position he commented, "I am honored to know that I serve as a symbol for my peers as possessing the abilities of great leadership." However, Dr.

Gaston stated that his position will be somewhat of a great responsibility mainly because of the "rather crucial issue that the Catawba Presbytery faces because of the retirement of the executive counselor." Gaston feels that this retirement will in some way or other affect the future direction of the Presbytery's work.

Wilmington 10 Crusade Continues

By Dianne Simpson

A mass of concerned individuals filled the nave of the Laodicea United Church of Christ in Raleigh, North Carolina on Sunday, February 5 in a rally for the Crusade for Justice for the Wilmington 10.

Built around the theme, "Lest We Forget" emphasis was placed on the symbolization of the struggle for the complete freedom of the Wilmington 10.

Rev. Leon White, Director Commission for Racial Justice for the N.C. - Va. Field Office presided over the rally. Musical selections stressing the constant struggles of the minorities and the depressed were rendered by the New Spirit Gospel and Young Adult Choir of Laodicea Church, The Oak Level UCC Gospel Choir of Manson, N.C. and the St. Augustine's College Gospel Choir of Raleigh.

Ministers at the rally were Rev. W.B. Lewis of 1st Cosmopolitan Baptist in Raleigh, Rev. D.A. Peace of Laodicea, Dr. Grady Davis of Union Baptist Church in Durham and Rev. James Barnett of Charlotte.

Rev. Yvonne Beasley, Chaplain of North Carolina Central University, introduced the keynote speaker Dr. Charles E. Cobb, Executive Director of the Commission for Racial Justice.

Dr. Cobb spoke on the awesome exercise of white power in the United States and especially in North Carolina and how it was this power that brought on Governor Jim Hunt's decision. He emphasized the point that white power has been the successful efforts of established institutions to maintain the racial status quo, meaning that whites shall be exalted and all other colors shall not. White power is the press, the government, the courts, the schools, the colleges, the mercantile and industrial corporations - it is the labor unions and the churches. It is like a marsh underfoot for anyone not white.

Dr. Cobb stressed that we as blacks "must come and work together and abandon the prejudices found in the laws handed down by the white man." He commented that the only laws that the white man abides by as so exemplified by Governor Jim Hunt's decision are to try to keep the black man from progression.

Cobb also spoke on the distortions of the story of the Wilmington Ten by the media and how six or more North Carolina newspapers had different stories all claimed to be based on facts. Cobb ended his speech urging that all continue rallying for justice.

Leadership Conference for North Carolina which was originally founded by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. stirred up the crowd as they joined in and echoed his utterances of "I Am Somebody," "Soul Power," "People Power," and "Black Power." Frinks pointed out that a black man doesn't have to possess a lot of education degrees to realize that he has been suppressed. He stated that he wanted all to know that he held BS, MS and PH.D degrees; BS-busy striving, MS-Master of Strategy and PH.D-Public Highway Demonstration.

Other persons at the rally were Mrs. Chavis, Ben Chavis' mother, his sister Mrs. Davenport and Dr. Helen O'low, Ann Shepherd and Attorney Irv Joyner, Criminal Justice Coordinator Commission for Racial Justice.

Rev. Leon White urged all blacks to ban together and demonstrate Saturday, Feb. 11 at the State Human Relations Council Banquet where Gov. Jim Hunt is scheduled to speak. The crusade for the Wilmington Ten continues.
