Disco Fun...The friends and supporters to re-elect Bob Walton for County Commissioner hosted a very successful fund raising disco, the Thursday night before the elections at the Excelsior Club on Beatties Ford Road.

Among those attending were several dignitaries who sought election in the May 2, primaries. Mrs. Vivian Gallo-way, who ran for sheriff of Mecklenburg County; Cecil Jenkins, who vied for a seat in the senate; Frank Aycock, who won the position of District Supreme Court Judge; and the guest of honor, Reverend Bob Walton, who was re-elected to the Board of County Commissioners.

Three Charlotteans Among "Outstanding Young Men"

Three Charlotteans will be listed in a published compilation of "Outstanding Young Men Of America."

They are Wayne Phillip Diggs of 116-C Marble St., Ronald James Leeper of 417 Colony Acres Drive and C.J. McConice of 3045 Reid Ave.

Leeper, 33, is an elected member of the Charlotte City Council. His political position probably resulted from community activities to his credit.

He has organized two Boy Scouts units, one in the Clanton Park area where he formerly lived and the other in the Nations Ford Road area where he lives now. Leeper has served as an organizer for a Clanton Park Community Group, Colony Acres Youth Club, Colony Acres Homeowners Association, Precinct No. 77, and the now defunct Nations Ford Road Coalition.

The St. Mark's Methodist Church member has recently pulled together a District No. 3 Committee (within his city council district), and he was elected chairman of a Governmental Liaison Joint Committee. Two representatives serve on the committee from city council, county commission, board of education and the legislative delegation.

Leeper is employed by B & B Supply Company. He and his wife, Phyllis, have two children.

C. J. McConice, 22, is a senior at Johnson C. Smith University and a dance instructor at McCrorey Branch YMCA.

The Charlotte native worked with the Special Olympics for retarded children and he is a United Negro College Fund contributor.

As a physical education major, he serves in both the JCSU Athletic Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation and the N.C. branch of the association.

Cold Water

Cold water rinse is a great help with eggs, milk, cheese, rice and oatmeal. Soak dishes and utensils before washing and they'll be easier to clean. Hot water will cook these foods onto plates and utensils.

Nylon net puffs work wonders in the dishpan to remove foods which stick. Buy nylon net by the yard and make puffs with a few quick stitches. As a bonus, nylon net is easy to keep clean, quick-drying and colorful.

Don't plunge ice-cold glassware into hot water or you may find your hands in a sinkful of shattered glass.

Use trays to clear the dining table. It takes fewer steps to remove dirty dishes this way. It's also a help in table setting.

and College Presidents and Deans as well as various civic groups including the U.S. Jaycees. The Jaycees endorse the program.

"The criteria for selection include a man's voluntary service to community, professional leadership, academic achievement, business advancement, cultural accomplishments and civic and political participation," the statement said.
