

Prophet's Column

"The Sin Of Racial Pride" - III

By J. M. Little

The only difference is the grace of God. The blood of the Lord Jesus Christ makes every believer the same color because the Lord God of heaven sees every believer in Christ.

Very few people believe the Word of God. John in Revelations said he saw a number that no man could number; of all kindreds and tribes, and tongues. So, there will be souls in heaven from every nation and every race on the earth. Who are you to judge this race or that race to be left out? When you do, you are letting me know that you do not believe the Word of God.

A preacher here was a sad case to me. Another preacher wanted me to go to that preacher's church. But that other preacher told my friend preacher; my church is all tensed up and if that black man came over here that might be the very spark to set the church off. What a tragedy! And when that preacher got opportunity to see, he ignored me. He acted as though I wasn't there. I didn't know who he was until the announcement was made.

Now there is a man supposed to be carrying the Gospel but not wanting a black man in his church. Won't it be an awful day when he lands his church on Tuckasee Rd. in Hell.

The Gospel I carry is for every creature to hear, I don't preach to just one so-called race, I preach to lost men and women, your race means nothing to me. You are a lost sinner on the road to hell and you need my Christ. Now as I said in the beginning, if anyone wants to disassociate themselves from me because

Do Not

Store Gas In Your Garage

If you were thinking about storing a few gallons of gas in a plastic container in your garage, don't.

The Mecklenburg County Fire Administrator's Office is cracking down on the enforcement of a law that forbids the storage or use of Class I flammable liquids in plastic or glass containers. Class I flammable liquids include gasoline, ether, naphtha, acetone, and any other flammable liquid with a flash point below 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

Under the Mecklenburg County Fire Prevention Code, the maximum amount of Class I flammable liquids that can be stored, handled, or used in portable containers is limited to one gallon in dwellings or other places of residence, six gallons in buildings such as outside storage sheds and garages, and 10 gallons outside of any building. It is a violation of the law to operate a motor vehicle on a public highway while transporting any flammable liquids in the passenger or luggage compartments, except when carrying motor fuel in containers of less than two gallons for home use, from the place of purchase to your home or wherever the fuel will be used. This law does not apply to vehicles operated by common carriers and duly licensed distributors.

Mecklenburg County Fire Marshal John Knowles suggests that citizens follow the recommendations of the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) and use containers constructed of metal with a screw-on or spring-loaded cover that provides a tight closure. The container should have a spout or be designed so the contents can be poured without spilling. The container should be labeled according to its contents.

Also, Knowles cautions against asking your station operator to violate the law by filling illegal containers with Class I flammable liquids. The County fire inspectors will be making spot inspections for violations of this law. If you need information or would like to have your container checked for approval, call the Fire Administrator's Office, 300 East Seventh Street, 374-2154.

J. M. Little of the truth I've laid down here, feel free to go.

Christ is my hope, my All. I weep for men and women who are caught up in the sin of race pride who are on the road to hell. You had better ask the Lord to deal with your heart before it is too late.

May the Lord help you and turn you to Him before it is too late. There is a general love in my heart for men of all races. That is evidenced by my offering you the Gospel, but you won't have it. You try to push your guilt off on me, it won't work because God pardoned me from all the guilt and penalty of sin when He saved me. Do you know Christ? Do you want to know Christ?

Man by nature hates God, therefore you hate God's laws He has laid down for you to live by. In our day men and women live like dogs. One day the Lord killed 23,000 for the sin of fornication, now before you call me a liar you had better go read the Scriptures and see that I'm telling the truth (1 Cor. 10:8)

Paul tells us in II Cor. 6:14 "Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers:" In marriage this means that you as a believer are not supposed to marry a non-believer. I remember years ago this matter was brought up in a sociology class in school and the school teacher said this Scripture meant that a school teacher was to marry a school teacher, a barber a barber and on down the line. She skinned her higher education ignorance didn't she? If that interpretation were true it would contradict many other Scriptures. And just think; a president of a nation would have to marry the president of another nation. How could they live together as man and wife with his being president of his country and her being president of her country? Your blindness would be funny if it weren't so.

tragic. You cannot understand the Word of God by education. But I don't believe we have ever lived in a day when people were so full of race pride as they are today. Every race wants to be looked up to and have the pre-eminence. Well you can have it, it'll only land you in Hell. I praise the Lord that when He got hold of my heart I saw clearly what I felt all the time, there is no difference among men. The grace of God is the only difference. Hell will burn every race that goes therein. But men and women would rather hate and go to Hell than love and go to heaven. You may want to beat the tar out of an individual, in hell you'll have all eternity to do it. Hell begins in the human breast and ends in the bottomless pit. Some of you are so mad you could take the knife and cut my heart out, if it weren't for the restraint of God you would. But I would go on to heaven and you'd go to Hell. Not many who fight the Gospel ever get saved. Not many who killed the apostles of old ever got saved. Paul was there when Stephen was stoned to death giving his consent. He held the clothes of some who stoned Stephen. But a little later God gave him a blow, a blow of mercy and saved him. You don't have a guarantee that God is going to have mercy on you like that. Now is the day of salvation, tomorrow may never come for you. Each day your heart is growing harder and harder. It's Christ or Hell! Repent or perish! Down at the feet of Christ. May the Lord help you and turn you away from yourself and to Christ whom to know a right is life eternal.

Corn Crop

Rebounding

Poor Output

North Carolina farmers are about to begin harvesting corn, and the crop is expected to be much improved over the drought-reduced harvest of 1977.

Rains have been more frequent and widespread so far this year, and much of the grain crop is already made, according to North Carolina State University agricultural extension specialists.

However, some sections of the state have been short on moisture again and have experienced corn pollination problems, explains Dr. Guy Jones, in charge of extension crop science at NCSU. "Some sections are going to have one of the best crops they've ever had," Jones said, "but others will be short. I think it will be a good crop overall but not a super crop."

The projected size of the North Carolina production is 112 million bushels. If realized, this would be 30 percent larger than last year's poor crop but considerably smaller than some other recent Tar Heel harvests.

Corn acreage for gain harvest is estimated at 1.54 million acres by the N.C. Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. That is 9 percent fewer acres than last year.

The yield forecast is 73 bushels per acre. This would be 22 bushels an acre more than last year's below par output.

Nationally, the corn crop is expected to be down 4 percent from last year. Production is forecast at 6.15 billion bushels.
