During the afternoon session, the second panel was concerned with identifying problem areas between the Church and the NAACP and "Developing Methods and Strategies to solve them."

Participants in the panel were Rev. Ricky Spain, the pastor of Bethal AME Church and a member of the Reidsville, N.C. City Council; Rev. Robert L. Walton, Vice Chairman of the Mecklenburg County Commissioners and pastor of St. Paul's United Presbyterian Church, Charlotte, N.C.; Rev. John Taylor, chairman of the United Pitt County Branch Church Work Committee and pastor of the Oak Baptist Church in Grimesland, N.C. and Weeping May Baptist Church in Jamesville, N.C.; Rev. Solomon J. Jones, the pastor of First Calvary and Cherry Chapel Baptist Church in Hobgood, N.C.; and Rev. R. L. Milhouse, chairman of the Scotland County Branch Church Work committee and pastor of the Bethlehem Baptist Church in Lauringburg, N.C.

The first evening of the convention features a "Minister's and Church Emphasis Day" dinner also at the Radisson Plaza Hotel at 7:30 p.m. Guest speakers included Dr. Stanley H. Smith, the President of Shaw University, and John Ingram, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate.
