Julie Garvin

Named "Miss

Alumni" 1978-79

by Susan Ellsworth
Post Staff Writer
The Charlotte Chapter of Johnson C. Smith University has a new Miss Alumni for 1978-79—she is Julie Garvin, a 1970 graduate of the university.

Ms. Garvin was sponsored by the winning group in the Alumni Association's fundraising competition, headed by Clyde H. Brown.

Every year groups from the association attempt to raise funds through membership dues. The four groups each sponsored one contestant. The group that raised the most money had its contestant become Miss Alumni.

This year the Alumni Association raised $15,000 in their membership drive. The largest amount raised by a single group was $7,000, raised by Brown's group.

Miss Alumni, Julie Garvin, was selected as a contestant because she had been involved in fundraising activities for the group and is the current Secretary of the Charlotte Chapter of the Alumni Association.

Ms. Garvin is a resident of Charlotte and teaches physical education in the Gaston County Public Schools. The group, chaired by Brown has won the fundraising contest for the past 11 years.

Brown was once again the recipient of the Boo Murphy Award given to the one person who raised the largest amount of money. Brown has won this award for 11 years.

Sweeping Food

Stamp Changes

Hit Millions

ive, people will no longer have to "buy their way in" to the food stamp program. "This change will allow several million poor persons to participate for the first time. Most of these new participants will be the elderly poor and the working poor. I am gratified that we will be helping these citizens obtain a more nutritious diet."

Elimination of the purchase requirement will end the exchange of cash and opportunity for fraud, which has cost the program millions of dollars. The purchase requirement must be ended in all states by January 1. Texas has already announced plans to eliminate the purchase requirement on December 1.

The new regulations will prohibit participation by families owning luxury cars, make some students ineligible and require most students remaining to register for work or leave the program.

In addition, the regulations contain new procedures to bar persons found to have committed fraud from receiving any food stamps for periods of three to 27 months. These provisions must be in effect in all states by March 1.
