Joyce Miller

Enrolls In Dual Degree Program

Joyce Miller, a fourth year student at Morris Brown, is one of the few Atlanta University Center students enrolled in the Dual Degree program and who is now attending Georgia Tech to complete the second half of the program.

The Dual Degree Program allows AUC students to enter the opportunity-laden field of engineering by providing a link between the AUC schools and Georgia Tech. After a minimum of three years in the AUC schools taking engineering prerequisite courses along with general information courses, students transfer to Georgia Tech for about two more years where they receive their B.S. degrees in engineering. Graduates can expect to earn from $17,000 to $20,000 annually with just a bachelor's degree. Since blacks comprise only 2 percent of all of the engineers in the U.S., there is a great demand for black engineers and even doubly for black women engineers.

The Dual Degree program provides summer jobs in engineering for their students and those who maintain a grade point average of 2.7 or better are eligible for scholarships. Tutorial services are also provided by the program as well as seminars, guest speakers, banquets, et cetera.

A broad field, Joyce has chosen textile engineering as her concentration. This past summer she worked for the Catalytic Engineering and Construction Company here in Charlotte, her hometown. She received firsthand experience and knowledge, a valuable asset in any vocation.

Joyce is an active member of the Golden Key National Honor Society and has been an honor student during her matriculation at Morris Brown.

A former Garinger Senior High graduate, Joyce is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Miller of 1506 Gunn Street.
