Battle Attends

International

Sales Seminar

by Susan Ellsworth
 Post Staff Writer

Eddie B. Battle, a resident of Charlotte and a Prudential Insurance agent was among some 6,000 members of the Million Dollar Round Table (MDRT) gathering here for this exclusive life insurance sales organization's annual conference. Attendance at this year's meeting is the largest in MDRT history, with delegates representing 44 countries around the world, the MDRT meeting is the comprehensive sales forum in the life insurance industry.

During the five-day meeting, more than 100 professional speakers were discussing subjects of vital concern to both the public and to those in the life insurance field. The program features experts in such areas as estate planning, taxes, small business operations and inflation.

The organization claims the top one to two percent of all insurance agents in the world. To qualify an agent must sell 1.5 million in coverage each to a minimum of 12 clients.

Since Battle began selling life insurance eleven years ago, he has met MDRT's requirements for ten years. Prudential recruited him after he was recommended by a friend.

Battle was the former owner of two clothing stores - one on Beatties Ford Road and another on Statesville Avenue.

He was originally from Forest, Mississippi, but has lived in Charlotte for 20 years.

He is married, has three children, who are also married and resides at Botany Street in Charlotte.
