An art exhibition featuring contemporary Metro-lina Afro-American artists will be on display at Johnson C. Smith University during Negro History Week, February 10-16.

The opening reception for the exhibiting artists will be held Sunday, Feb. 10 from 3 to 5 p.m. on the second floor of the James B. Duke Library. During that week, the show will be on display at the library from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday and from 12 to 4 p.m. on Saturday.

"Johnson C. Smith is hosting the show because it serves as an educational and Aesthetic focal point for art in the black community," said Charles D. Rogers, director of art education at Johnson C. Smith.

TRICHOLOGY CORNER

Mr. Charles R.B.

QUESTION: Why is it that beauticians are refusing to answer questions on product knowledge to customers?

ANSWER: Customers frequently ask questions feeling that they already know the answers. Your professional is not there to argue with you. If you know all the answers, your professional will decide that he will not let you make all the decisions and have them to blame when something goes wrong. First, be sure the question is a question and be prepared to accept an answer other than the one you expected.
