Rev. Moore Plans Bazaar For Bethlehem Center Here Saturday Night

By Teresa Burns

Sending letters and cards, visiting and counseling are just a few endeavors of You and I, Inc. The program started two years ago and founder Rev. J.A. Moore feels that it is time for a progressive change.

"Most of the work has been done from my home, but the time has come for the need of an office," he stated.

You and I, Inc. is dedicated to winning souls for Christ and unifying the body of Christ, which is the church, according to Rev. Moore. In order to expand the Christian influence a bazaar will be held Saturday, March 8 at Bethlehem Center, 2705 Ballimore Ave. from 8:30 to 3 p.m.

"New and used items will be sold," Rev. Moore said. "There will be food and all proceeds will be to attain an office."

Hymns and gospel will be heard from many groups that have planned to appear at the bazaar. "This will be a day of worship also," Rev. Moore announced.

You and I, Inc. is involved in community work from Bible Studies every Tuesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Camp Greene Correction Center, to Christian Awareness workshops. A five-member board makes
