

Drug Education Center Will Present 3-Hour Synthesis

Are you thinking about getting a degree or license? There is a basic education opportunity grant, up to $1,400 a year in Federal grants depending on your income. If you have completed high school, pick up an application in schools, colleges and public libraries. For more information contact the director, Peter K. Voight or Telecommunicator, Nora Coughlan at (800) 533-6350 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. The local office is the Neighborhood Centers Department in Charlotte.

What can a joint do? By now you've probably heard that marijuana can release the pressure within the eyeball of glaucoma victims. If you'd like to know more, the Charlotte Drug Education Center at 1416 East Morehead St. will present a three-hour synthesis of all the recent and conflicting reports about what marijuana does or doesn't do that is harmful or beneficial to the individual smoker. A film will be shown. The workshop will be held Thursday, March 13 from 2-5 p.m. Call the Drug Education Center at (704) 374-3211 for reservations.

Also on March 6 from 2-4 p.m. a two-hour exploration of the effects of P.C.P. (Angel Dust) will occur. Call the Drug Educa-

There are hundreds who can stand failure to one who can stand success; the good loser is far more common than the good winner. -Franklin P. Adams.

School teachers in North Carolina in 1978-79 made approximately $13,537. Estimated average for the Southeastern states was $12,957, but the national average was $15,040. Even though North Carolina is ranked first in the Southeast for teachers' salaries, it is also rated 29th in the nation. - N.C. Dept. of Public Instruction.

"Help!" And the cries will get greater as April 15 approaches. But if you make less than $8,500 as a single or $11,500 for individuals filing jointly, you have an option. The Charlotte Chapter of the National Association of Black Accountants is offering free federal and state income tax return preparation to low income individuals from January 26 through April 5. Come by Belmont Regional Center, 700 Parkwood Ave., between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. or the Greenville Center, 1330 Spring St. from 11:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. each Saturday. Be sure to bring your tax packages with W-2 forms and other needed tax documents.

If you would like to prepare your own tax forms a workshop concerning this will be presented at the Trade St. YWCA March 11 and 12. The fee for Y members will be $3 and $5 for non-members. Call 525-5770 or 333-7533 for more information.

Number one: No, it's not the U.S.A. hockey team, but something just as note worthy. Ruby Eaves Johnson, the first Black Post Master in Granite Quarry, NC was honored recently at The White Rock AME Zion Church in Granite Quarry during "Black Awareness Day".

Family members of Mrs. Johnson and members of the West Charlotte Alumni Association 1946-47 were present at the tribute. Mrs. Johnson is a member of Mount Carmel Baptist church and West Charlotte Alumni.

Members of the West Charlotte Alumni 1946-47 honored Mrs. Carrie Boler Feb. 24 for her dedication and loyalty to the Alumni Association. Mrs. Boler is married to Woodrow Boler and they have a son, Woodrow "Chip" Boler.

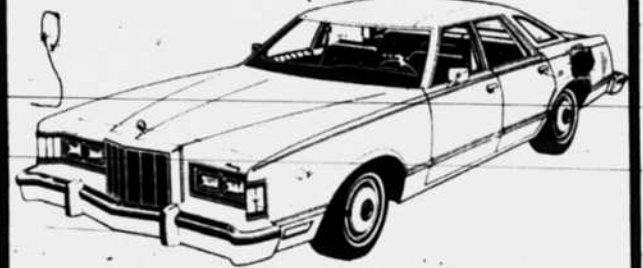

Alumni members present included: Mae Orr-president, Mary Brooks, Jacqueline Williams, Mary Davis, Ruby Johnson, John Hunter, and William Covington.

Have you ever noticed that the merest titter of a sneeze will get you "God bless you's" and "Gesundheits" by the score; but when you almost cough yourself to death all you get are dirty looks?

-Edward Stevenson in the Wall Street Journal
