

MRS. GEORGE D. PETTICE
...The former Miss Synovia Samuels

Miss Synovia Samuels Is Bride Of George Pettice

Synovia Samuels and George D. Pettice were joined together in holy matrimony May 16 at Mt. Moriah Primitive Baptist Church.

Elder Thomas W. Samuels, father of the bride performed the ceremony which began at 4 p.m. The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Elder Henry C. Samuels.

The bride is the daughter of Elder and Mrs. Thomas W. Samuels, of 6433 Hidden Forest Dr. The groom is the son of George Pettice Sr. of Charlotte and Betty Morris of Boston.

Soloist was Sandra P. Samuels, sister-in-law of the bride. Mrs. Lonnie Miller was the organist.

The bride's attire was a long white gown of peau finished organza and imported Venice lace. The gown was designed with a modified empire waistline and long slim bridal sleeves. Seeded pearls accented the flower center and narrow Venice lace hanging was used to border the entire hemline of the gown and train.

Her head piece was a large picture hat with a turned up side brim accented with a silk flower. An English net and illusion complimented the total look.

Maid of Honor was Genita R. Samuels, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids included Andrea Collins, Diana Pratt, Emily Pettice (groom's sister), Clara Ford and Patricia Steele.

Keya Brewington was the flower girl while D'Angelo Samuels served as the ring bearer.

The Best Man was Wayne Oliphant. Ushers were Thomas Samuels II and Henry Samuels, both brothers of the bride.

Attendants were Reginald Wilson, Reginald Morehead, Clifford Pauling, Orrin Reeder, and Donnie Huntley.

The bride is a 1977 graduate of Bethune-Cookman College. She earned a B.A. in History Education and is employed by the Charlotte Post Newspaper.

The groom also graduated in 1977 from Bethune-Cookman, receiving his B.S. in Business Administration and is employed by Hartford Insurance Company.

The reception was held at the YWCA on E. Trade St.

Sheron Covington Graduates Cum Laude

By Teresa Burns
Post Staff Writer

Sheron Covington graduated from Spelman College cum laude (3.0 to 3.4 average) with degrees in English and Journalism.

By the time her luggage cools off from the trip from Atlanta, Ga., she will be packing them again to attend a five-week course at Howard University Publishers Institute. "I will study there this summer and take courses in publishing," Ms. Covington announced.

Sheron Covington
...To study at SMU

When this mission is completed Ms. Covington will travel to Dallas, Texas, to pursue her Master's in Religious Education at Southern Methodist University (SMU). Later she plans to get her doctorate in religion.

"I wish to get involved with religious communications...to ultimately combine my education from the theological institution with the communication skills I already possess and eventually start producing religious television shows."

Ms. Covington has always been interested in the existence of man, thus her studies in varying religious beliefs will serve to broaden her theological scope.

"Women have played a limited role in theology and I think that it is time for a change," she commented.

"I'm interested not only in Christianity but I intend to explore all religions. The religion that I find is most suitable will be the one I will disseminate through my communication skills," she continued.

Ms. Covington has been active professionally and in campus life. She was editor of the "informer", a newspaper covering the entire Atlanta University Circle of six schools; she interned at Atlanta Interfaith Broadcasters Religious radio and television station; and worked with Cable Atlanta Network on the production staff.

She is a member of the National Dean's Lists, Chapter Journalist for Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and past president of the Morehouse-Spelman Society of Collegiate Journalists. She is also a charter member of Sigma Delta Chi and was selected to become a member of the Society of Professional Journalists.

Spelman College celebrated its 100th anniversary this year and Ms. Covington is a member of the centennial class.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Coleman she enjoys needle point, reading, traveling and photography.

Medicine Shoppe Is Pharmacy Of The Future

If you're ready for the pharmacy of the future, The Medicine Shoppe invites you to stop by for a free health screening and to have your prescriptions filled.

Replacing the narrow aisles of general merchandise, the Medicine Shoppe boasts a new look - the professional health care center, complete with carpeted floors, wood paneling and easy chairs.

This prescription-oriented pharmacy, located at 2919 Central Ave. across from the Calabash Cove Restaurant, is open 9:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. weekdays and 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Saturdays. Customers can be screened for high blood pressure, diabetes, glaucoma, hearing loss, oral cancer, carbon monoxide poisoning, and colon-rectal cancer among others.

One can even become more aware of causes and remedies of common health problems through the Known Diabetic Clinic and the Foot Clinic.

"We believe these screening programs will create awareness among local residents and provide early detection for potential victims of serious health problems," according to pharmacist Beth Quendenfeld.

The Medicine Shoppe is one of 300 prescription-health care centers across the country. Unlike conventional drugstores, more than 90 percent of their business is for prescription medicine.

TRICHOLOGY CORNER

Mr. Charles, R.B.

QUESTION: I have a perm, but my hair never looks the way I feel it should; it's always dull and frizzy. Why?

ANSWER: Dear dull and frizzy, you did not state if you were under a competent stylist or did it yourself. Hair will reflect the type of treatment you give it. There must be constantly good hair care by a competent stylist or the hair will show that sometimes you do what is right and other times you don't. Also, in these hectic times, the salon is one of the few places to relax and let someone pamper you for a change. It does wonders for your nerves.
