Given in marriage by her father, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow King of 1820 Wilmore Drive in Charlotte.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Willie Fairley of Raleigh.

Attired in a long white gown with lace veil, the bride carried a bouquet of white carnations mixed with daisies.

Matron of Honor, Sandra Stewart, wore a scarlet pink gown accompanied by a pink cape. Bridesmaids Teresa McDowell, Pamela Black, Ruth Worthy, and Rhonda Beasley chose pink gowns with burgundy and grey capes.

Bennett King served as the Best Man. Ushers were Maurice Fairley, Barry King, Basil King and Douglas Dunn.

Regina King was the flower girl and Randy King was the ring bearer. The bride is a graduate of Olympic High School.

In July, the couple will move to Germany while Fairley completes his Army tour of duty. Then the couple plan a return to Charlotte.

The Doll Show's founder, Jeanette S. Robinson, expressed that her wishes and prayers extend to the continued success of the event. "I hope that it will continue to grow as it has each year. In 1979 there were 21 contestants and in 1981 we had 83."

The many participants worked hard in order to make the show as attractive as it was. Many received awards and gifts for the amount of money reported and in various other categories.

The Queen was Monica Miller. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Miller. She and her family were recognized for their tremendous contribution.

Timeka McKay was the second place winner. Amanda Moore came in third while Kimberly Lipscomb placed fourth. Tori Reid came in the fifth position.

Many others were also recognized for their works and were presented gifts for their efforts.
