

NO. 89 WILLIAM WALL, JUNIOR TIGHT END

William is an awesome figure on any football field. Whether he's blocking or running complementary routes down field, he draws a lot of attention from opponents. His role this season has been even more devastating than last year. Due to the crowd he draws, the offense has been able to attack very successfully away from him.

Kevin Patterson Spearheads No. 1 Defense

As of October 31, with eight games completed, Virginia Union University was fortunate enough to be ranked as the number one defense in the United States (division II).

Virginia Union University was number four in rushing totals (61.4 yards per game), scoring (7.4 points per game), and total defense (144.6 yards total per game) in defensive categories.

Spearheading the "number one" defense in the nation is defensive signal caller and middle linebacker Kevin "Stamp" Patterson. At 6'2½", 235 pounds, Patterson got his nickname because of his vicious tackles which usually "stamped" an imprint on the chest of enemy ballcarriers.

Patterson has been likened to a "bigger version of Willie Lanier" (also from the CIAA conference) former Kansas City Chief All-Pro middle linebacker.

Kevin is one of the leading tacklers with 48 (from scrimmage) which does not include his special team work which has been equally devastating. Kevin has missed playing in two games.

Head football coach Willard

Bailey refuses to take Kevin off the special team because his vicious charge makes him the team leader. Kevin also has a blocked punt and an interception to his credit.

"An All-American in high school, we feel that Kevin Patterson is one of the top linebackers in the country, at any level," praised Bailey.
