Noontime Performances

By Mac Thrower
Post Staff Writer

NCNB Plaza Presents, a series of noontime performances on the NCNB Tower Plaza, has opened its sixth season.

This season's schedule features a variety of entertainment, ranging musically from barbershop to bebop to opera; performances will also include a program for cooking tips and an imaginary tour of a tropical rain forest.

The Steel Drum Symphonette will appear May 12, offering a wide range of music. This group has appeared professionally in a number of cities in the Southeast.

Brad Liebel, the Pelton and Crane affiliate artist, will appear on May 19, singing pop, classical, semi-classical and opera. The opera singer will be presenting an "informance," during which he will not only sing, but also talk about his music and his career.

A barbershop quartet is scheduled for May 26 on the Plaza. Four Gone South, a group of four singers who transferred with IBM to Charlotte, will sing a variety of barbershop tunes, including ballads, serious and comedy.

Tips on cooking out-of-doors will be the theme of a presentation June 2 by John Sperl, executive chef at the Radisson. Sperl will be demonstrating cooking techniques on the grill for lamb, pork, chicken and seafood.

Pervis Lee, who works with executive administration for NCNB, will sing and play on June 9. Lee will be doing pop, folk, blues
