The best traditions are to be enjoyed, and few are more enjoyable than traditional New Orleans jazz as played by the artists who created this great sound - The Preservation Hall Jazz Band.

These are the musicians who not only made musical history with New Orleans jazz, but are perpetuating it as well. It is alive and bouncing at ancient Preservation Hall in the French Quarter of New Orleans, where the band holds forth when it is not on tour.

When the band travels it brings the same vitality to this sweet-sad-gentle-exuberant music. It is music born from the turn-of-the-century street parades and saloons, from the river boats and from the hearts of people who laughed and danced and cried. It's music played by men who worked the docks all day but weren't too tired to blow their horns for most of the night.

This is music from life with an unmistakable form and beat, yet it allows the players the freedom of phrasing that literally commands audiences to stamp their feet and shout.

Tim Reid, "WKRP's" favorite DJ, can now be heard in Charlotte on radio station WPEG. Reid, who portrays disc jockey Venus Flytrap on the CBS-TV series "WKRP in Cincinnati," can be heard locally Sunday afternoons from 1-4 p.m. hosting his own radio show, "Sound Off." "Sound Off," a nationally syndicated, three-hour radio program, features a countdown of the nation's most popular soul singles (according to "Black Radio Exclusive"), interspersed with anecdotes and interviews with today's top black artists.
