Drug And Alcohol Abuse Orientation Class Planned

By Teresa Simmons
Post Managing Editor
Seldom do you hear a "thank-you" after someone has rendered you a service. But that's the bigness of Curtis Hunter, one of Charlotte's finest Alcohol and Drug Counselors.

Curtis Hunter
...Veteran counselor

"I wish to thank each pastor for the support of the proposal presented to them in February. Their confidence in me and the work I have proposed for their memberships will help assure the success of this program," Hunter stated.

The program Hunter refers to involved reaching, touching and inform-important aspects of this program is "prevention," Hunter explained.

"Sure there are good programs in schools," he continued, "but seldom do they involve the parents of the children."

Hunter's program includes training sessions with five selected members from each church. During the sessions members will be given information on prevention, identification and available resources to drug and alcohol abuse.

First, however, Hunter has set the time and date for the first orientation class. This will be held Saturday, June 5 at First Baptist Church-West, 1801 Oaklawn Ave. Fellowship Hall from 9 a.m. until 12 noon. "Rev. Dr. Humphrey was extremely nice to allow us the space in First Baptist-West," Hunter remarked.

"During this time," Hunter explained, "information will be related as to what the training will consist of." Role playing will be a part of the orientation class. Resource persons from various fields will deal with many "how to" situations. In addition Hunter will deal with stressful family problems.

Hunter stresses that this alcohol and drug abuse program will not only help those with drinking and drug related problems, but also aid in the prevention of problems.

With the rising cases of drug abuse in our schools, plus the economic pressures squeezing the life out of many of our black's self-confidence counseling such as Hunter's is a God-send.

If your church would like to participate in this prevention program contact Curtis Hunter, Alcohol Counselor at 704-535-2536 or write him at P. O. Box 220964, Charlotte, NC 282220964.

Public Hearing Set For Bus Route Changes

If you ride Charlotte City buses—or are concerned about changes affecting our transit system—you may want to attend an important public hearing set for Thursday, June 3, at 7 p.m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

The hearing will be held to receive comments and suggestions on route and service changes scheduled for the Charlotte Transit System. The public is invited to comment on changes proposed to go into effect in late August on the following routes: No. 1, Providence Road - suspend Sunday service; No. 2, Ashley Park-Independence - combine Ashley Park and Columbus Circle legs and reduce midday frequency to 35 minutes; No. 3, Plaza Rd. - combine with Route 4 on nights and Saturdays; Tuckaseegee Rd. - reduce Saturday frequencies to 45 minutes; No. 8, Tuckaseegee Rd. - reduce Saturday frequencies to 45 minutes; No. 9, Clanton Park-Midwood - suspend Midwood service and Sunday Clanton park service; No. 12, South Blvd.-Graham St. - combine with Route 16 on nights and Sundays and reduce Saturday frequencies to 45 minutes; No. 13, Euclid-Scaleybank - suspend Saturday service.

Those affected by or interested in these proposed changes may present oral or written comments during the hearing. Questions and requests to speak at the hearing should be directed to Debbie Burleson, Department of Transportation, 600 East Trade Street, Charlotte, N.C. 28202, 374-2261.

WSSU Confers 280 Degrees

By Lori Grier
Post Staff Writer

Two hundred and eighty seniors received bachelor's degrees during commencement exercises at Winston-Salem State University in Winston-Salem, N.C.

recently. The Honorable Julian Bond, Georgia state legislator and human rights activist, delivered the keynote address.

Mr. Bond was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree for his contributions to politics and civil rights. Mr. Edward Horrigan Jr., R. J. Reynolds executive and general chairman of the WSSU Enhancement Campaign, was awarded an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree for his contributions to the corporate sector and the Winston-Salem community.

Thirteen students were commissioned as Second Lieutenants in the U.S. Army during the ceremony. Graduating seniors who were commissioned were: Rickie Hargrove (Oxford, N.C.) Alvesta Moore (Rocky Mount, N.C.); Rodney Taylor (Chapel Hill, NC); and Horace Williams (Farmville, N.C.)

The following Charlotteans received bachelor's degrees: Debra L. Alexander, biology; Jeffrey L. Crump, Business Administration; Sandra L. Galmon, Special Education; Jacqueline Y. Neal, Office Administration; Angelo Q. Reid, Psychology; and Leone M. Walker, Special Education.

WSSU To Hold Summer School

Registration

Winston-Salem State University will conduct registration for all summer school classes May 31 from 8 a.m. - 12 p.m. and 1-5:30 p.m. in the C.E. Gaines Center. Fees are based on the number of credit hours taken and residency (in-state, out-of-state; boarding, non-boarding).

Two summer sessions will be held. The six week session will run from June 1-9. The four-week session will run from June 14 - July 9. Interested persons should contact the Director of Summer School at 761-2121.

CPOC Offers Course For Managers

Courses in management technique, time management and retail selling will be offered this summer at Central Piedmont Community College.
