

City's Newest Minority Business Has Something To Offer

One of Charlotte's newest minority businesses has something to offer our community. The Davis and Kirby Co., located at 601 S. Sharon Amity Road, is affiliated with A. L. Williams, the fastest growing independent marketing organization in America.

The Davis and Kirby business is a company interested in helping the middle-income individual or family "save" money with life insurance, as well as teaching the consumer how to systematically invest in IRA's, Tax Deferred Annuities and other financial products.

If you are looking for employment Davis and Kirby now offers part- and full-time job opportunities for qualified candidates.

If you are interested in learning more about the financial services offered, or about the career opportunities, contact Phil Davis or Ron Kirby, owners of this new business at 366-3651.

As of July 30, $8,000 had been raised for the Coleman-Cannon Fund, according to Mayor Eddie Knox. This fund was created to aid the children of the slain Charlotte Police officers, Ernest Coleman and Edmond N. Cannon.

There are many people and organizations donating to this worthy cause. It only goes to show that as large as Charlotte is there is still that heart of a small, close-knit town.
