"Our nation's economic and social policies are like the runaway Soviet Cosmos satellite--fragmented, out of control, and dangerous."

Documentation for Mr. Jacob's analysis of the current status of Blacks is contained within the eight papers appearing in "The State of Black America-1983." Covering a wide variety of subject areas the papers were prepared for the NUL by distinguished experts in their fields.

For example, Dr. David H. Swinton, Director, The Southern Center for Studies Public Policy, writing on The Economic Status of the Black Population," says:

"Previous experience makes it clear that the current recession will exacerbate racial economic inequality. It will further erode Black income and increase black poverty and dependency on welfare. Moreover, in view of the cuts that have been made in government budgets for programs to aid the poor and needy in the last few years, the impact of the recession has probably been even more devastating for low and moderate income Blacks. The recovery will be slow at best, and perhaps hundreds of thousands of Blacks will never again regain their prerecession status."

Dr. Alvin F. Poussaint. Associate Professor of Psychiatry and Associate Dean for Student Affairs at Harvard writing on "The Mental Health Status of Blacks-1983", comments:

"Overall, recent reports show increasing instances of serious (non-clinical) psychological depression among all segments of the ack population, but parcularly among those with broken marriages, those not employed outside the home, those with lower incomes, and the less welleducated.

"It is clear that Black Americans are at high risk for maladaptation, behavioral disabilities, and mental illness throughout their life cycles. There appear to be no safety nets that protect the health or psyche of the Afro-American from institutional racism, poverty, high unemployment and a stagnant

In her paper "The Economic Status of Black : Women," Dr. Barbara A. P. Jones, Professor of Economics, Clark College, con-

"Black women are indeed the poorest of the major race-sex groups in American society. In addition, they head the poorest of poor families. They have the lowest income both absolutely and relatively... The over supply of trained Black women eager to work results in employers being able to fill positions at lower rates than would prevail if the jobs were filled by men or white women. In that sense, private profit makers are the chief beneficiaries of the current role of Black women in the labor force."

Local Group To Offer Scholarships To Wilberforce

The National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. Charlotte Chapter proudly announces that several scholarships to high school students will be awarded. Applications, transcripts, etc., are being accepted now.

One such college, Wilberforce University (Ohio) the nation's oldest Black private institution of higher learning, is one of four colleges NANBPW has listed.

A renewable one-year $5,000 academic scholarship will be presented to a student interested in attending the university.

The scholarships will be composed of federal and institutional non-repayable grant assistance, and the amount will include sufficient funds to cover tuition, room and board, health insurance, and a $200 per year allowance for books and supplies.

Applicants must complete a university scholarship application and the College Scholarship Service Financial Aid Form.

Students interests in vying for the Wilberforce scholarship must meet the following criteria: a. Must be a high school student with at least a 3.0 grade point average. b. Must have a letter of recommendation from one teacher. c. Must have a letter of recommendation from hisher counselor who verifies the student's cumulative grade point average. d. Must write an essay on "Why I Want To Attend A College words or less. It is preferred, but not mandatory,
