

WOOC To Sponsor Easter Egg Hunt

The West Charlotte Optimist Club will sponsor an Easter Egg Hunt for the elderly and youth (toddler to 12 years) of the west Charlotte community of Monday, April 4, at the West Charlotte Community Center, 2400 Kendall Drive. The egg hunt will begin at 11 a.m. and end around 2:30 p.m.

Along with games and the egg hunt, door prizes will be given to lucky ticket holders. First prize is $150; second prize, $100 and third place, 150. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the West Charlotte Optimists Club.

"Club members will be on hand to get all participants at the door," said Wylie Harris, director of the youth division. "We hope the members of the community will participate and make this event a grand success."

Harris added that members of the club and the elderly participants in the egg hunt will be recognized and introduced.

West Charlotte Optimists officers are: Jimmy Yancy, president; Hiwatha Black, vice-president; Bill Oliver, 2nd vice-president; Wylie Harris, youth director and Frank Pharr, secretary-treasurer.

Board members are: Hazel Freeman, Nathaniel Edwards, Bill Leake, Wallace Baynes, Charles Sanders and James Blair.

For more information, call Wylie Harris at 378-1000, ext. 2109 weekdays from 9 a.m. - noon and 1-2 p.m.

Hope For An Age Of Anxiety

Some people are saying that the idealism of the 60s is dead. I don't believe it. What has changed is how young people are responding to a troubled world which appears to offer little hope for the future.

In "The Sounds of Silence," Simon and Garfunkle, pop minstrels of the 60s, sang: "The words of the prophets are written on the subway walls and tenement halls." Today, the mood of the times is appearing more often as graffiti on the walls of our colleges and universities.

On a wall at Princeton University, someone wrote: "This life is a test. It is only a test. Had this been an actual life, you would have received further instruction as to what to do and where to do."

At another school, these words: "Sometimes I think we are alone. Sometimes I think we are not. Either way the thought is staggering."

Fifteen years ago, many kids grew long hair, protested against Vietnam and dropped out of society and into drugs. Today, more and more are taking the ultimate "out" by taking their own lives.

There is hope for the young and searching. I want them to find it.

...If You Get A Ticket! Drive Carefully, Or Dig Deeper In Your Pockets

Special To The Post Traffic tickets already dig deeply into motorists' pockets, but after April 1 they will dig even deeper - about eight percent deeper.

The fine will not cost more, but the insurance bill will rise for anyone with a ticket who renews his or her policy after April 1.

The difference between a bill before a ticket and the same bill after a ticket can be dramatic, says Bernard H. Parker, chairman of the North Carolina Reinsurance Facility Board of Governors. "And the surcharge costs you for three policy years. For example if you renew your auto liability policy in Charlotte after April 1, with no tickets it might cost you $151 a year for the minimum amount of coverage required by law. At renewal time if you have one point under the Safe Driver Insurance Plan (SDIP) for traveling 45 in a 35-mile-an-hour zone or some other infraction, your $151 bill will rise to $195 - a 29 percent increase."

Two SDIP points, which you receive for a conviction of speeding over 55 miles an hour but less than 75, are more than twice as bad as one point. It would increase the $151 bill to at least $245 - a 62 percent increase.

Ten points, which you can receive on a conviction for driving while under the influence of intoxicants, will increase the bill from $152 to at least $748 - 395 percent increase. "Actually, the effect of a DUI conviction probably would be a 601 percent increase if your policy were placed in the reinsurance facility. That decision would be up to the insuring company. The facility rate is 40 to 44 percent higher than the non-facility rate and the surcharges go on top of the higher base rate," Parker says.

The examples refer only to liability insurance and only to the amount of coverage required by law. SDIP points also affect your bill for collision and comprehensive insurance too, but not quite as much because only one type of surcharge applies to those coverages.

Two types of surcharges apply to the liability coverages for those drivers who have SDIP points. The first type of surcharge has been required by law for many years. Under the law, a Safe Driver Insurance Plan is required, and under it at-fault accidents and convictions for traffic offenses are assigned point values.

Each is assigned a percentage surcharge to be applied to the base rate for all coverages. Currently the SDIP system ranges from one point, which carries a 10 percent surcharge, up through 12 points which carry a 450 percent surcharge. Twelve-point violations include: manslaughter or negligent homicide, prearranged highway racing, and hit and run involving bodily injury or death.

Getting one or more SDIP points also brings the second type - recoupment surcharges. Actually there are two types of recoupment surcharges which together make up the 18.7 percent total. One surcharge is to recover the operating losses of the facility. The other makes up the difference between the "clean risk" rate which the companies are required to use for "clean risks" put in the facility and the facility rate.
