

PUSH, the Presbyterian Church, the National Lawvers Guild, entertainers E

Asner, Harry Belafonte

and Pete Seeger, ar

among the endorsers of the

Greensboro Civil Rights

That suit demands $48

million real and punitive damages from Klansmen,

Nazis, officials of the

Greensboro police, Bureau of Alcohol and Tobacco and

Firearms, FBI, Justice

Department and North Carolina Bureau of Inves tigation. The 86 defendants are charged with violating and conspiring to violate the civil rights of Com-

múnist Workers Party

labor organizers and community activists who were killed and injured at an uit.

Baby Doll Face Is Contagious 7.6 million (73 percent) reported that they voted. As shown by past sur-because it has an atmosveys, the black voter turnphere of love and togetherout was higher in the North and West (49 percent), and ness. I get a spriritual fulfilling from Mt. Calvary lowest in the South (38 percent). The South has the Holiness." Logan is a member of the Charlotte largest concentration of black voters.

By Lori Grier

Post Staff Writer I want to be able to help people. Knowing that God loves me, I want to be an extra love or joy to someone so that they can see God's love reflected in me," smiled 19-year-old Yolanda Logan.

Our beauty's bright eyes and babydoll face are contained in her peaceful nature. "I wish there was worldwide peace wherein everyone accepted each other and lived in harmony.

The 1982 graduate of West Charlotte High School is an Aries and describes herself as a very out going and sincere person. She is the coach of the West Charlotte High School cheer-leaders who have won numerous cheerleading competitions. Her hobbies include writing poetry, singing Gospels and reading in general.

When Miss Logan was in the second grade, she was recommended by Mrs. Rolland Jones (wife of Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Superintendent before Dr. Jay Robinson) to Stend First Presbyterian Church, 200 West Trade Street, for lessons in violin (nine years), chorus (eight years), piano (four years) and drama

(three years). "That experience was interesting and new to me. There were so many foreign people there. togetherness existed in that school-like environment," she responded.

Her energetic personality continued throughout junior and senior high schools. While at Wilson

Junior High School, she was a cheerleader for two years. In the 10th and 11th grades at West Charlotte High School, she was a member of the Student Government Association and the sixth in the nation cheerleader squad (three years). Logan was also Homecoming Queen, 1st runner-up for the Miss Carrousel Pageant and received the Most School Spirited, Most Popular and Most Talented Senior Superlative honors in the 12th grade. She attends two churches-Second Calvary Baptist and Mt. Calvary Holiness. "I attend Second Calvary,

Ecumenical Festival Of Love

Interdenominational Mass Choir along with three groups at Mt. Calvary.

Mrs. Evelyn Logan, her grandmother, is her favorite person, but Debbie Allen, star of Fame, is her favorite entertainer. "My grandmother has always portrayed the perfect person. She's very spiritual and gives us a spiritual background to fall back on." She continued, "Debbie Allen is a strong willed person with beliefs that she can accomplish anything. She represents positivity and energy."

Miss Logan plans to attend A&T State University for a degree in Communications in order to pursue a career in the television industry and Christian Ministry through television

OTHER FINDINGS

-- Thirty-four percent of the unemployed voted in 1982 compared with 27 percent in 1978

--Voter participation was higher among white-collar workers (58 percent) than blue-collar workers (39 percent); and among college graduates (67 percent) than among those with four years of high school (47 percent).

-- The turnout rate was considerably higher among homeowners (62 percent) than among renters (32 percent).

-A low turnout among Hispanics (25 percent) was attributed to the large proportion who could not vote because they were not citizens.

Frip To Bahamas Holds Fond Memories For Estelle Davis

By Loretta Manago Post Staff Writer

While Estelle Davis was. flying aboard an Eastern jetliner, her mind, no doubt, drifted off to the pleasant imagery of a warm, tropic island. Within hours the sights and scenes Mrs. Davis had imagined were within her reach. The airplane that she had been flying on landed at its destination, the Bahamas. As winner of The Charlotte Post's 1983 "Church-woman of the Year" contest Mrs. Davis, who was the recipient of the grand prize, was entitled to a four-day, three-night stay on the Bahamas.

For Mrs. Davis, her visit to the Bahamas was her first. She admitted upon her return that she wished she could have stayed longer and added, "I covered as much territory as I could." During her visit to the Bahamas there weren't many idle moments. According to Mrs. Davis. "There were so many places to see and something to do all of the time."

Boat riding, sight seeing, swimming, frequenting the Pilot Light Club and the casino amply filled Mrs. Davis' . days and nights. And although there were all kinds of parties the "shipwreck party" held the fondest memories for her.

The multiplicity of activities in which Mrs." Davis engaged herself were only exceeded by the beauty of the islands themselves. Recalling the geographics of the Bahamas Mrs. Davis stated, "The Bahamas are very pretty islands that are set off by a myriad of flowers and palm-like trees."

Being a tourist, Mrs. Davis quickly discovered it is very expensive. "The meals and even souvenirs cost a lot of money," she commented.

Sooner than she imagined the trip was over. Mrs. Davis capped her feelings about the trip by asserting, "I had a glorious time and I hope to come back

She is already looking forward to The Charlotte Post's campaign next year. "The trip is one in a million; every future contestant should work towards that goal." More than likely Mrs. Davis will.

Police Endorse Eddie Knox

Asheville - Citing his outstanding record of support for law enforcement, the state board of the Fraternal Order of Police has endorsed Eddie Knox for governor.

State Fraternal Order of Police President Lt. Shell Byars of the Shelby Police Department said the decision by the 40-member board came during a meeting in Asheville. It marks the first time the Fraternal Order of Police state board has ever endorsed a candidate for statewide office. Byars said the board endorsed Knox "because we want to keep professionalism in law enforcement and we know from his past record that he has been an active supporter of law anforcement. We feel that if he is elected governor he will do a good job helping local law enforcement officers and the communities

they protect."

anti-Klan demonstration in Greensboro, NC on November 3, 1979. The suit claims that local and federal official used their office to violate the civil rights of the demonstrators. They conspired with Klansmen and Nazis in that attack. they unlawfully arrested demonstrators, and they concealed and manipulated evidence after the fact. On December 3 lawyers for the Civil Rights Fund will enter federal district court in Durham, NC to argue against motions to dismiss the suit filed by the federal Justice Depart. ment the state of North Carolina and the City of Greensboro.

The government previously successfully stopped the discovery (court supervised investigation) process in the suit. which Civil Rights Fund lawyers project will ultimately reveal the full extent and character of the multi-agency involvement in the murders.

Lawyers from the Greensboro Civil Rights Fund believe that the December 3 hearing will result in the denial of the government's motions to dismiss the case.

Greater Bethel Launches Crusade

"I am convinced an effort longer than the 11 a.m. Sunday service is needed to arrest the attention of people to cause them to see Christ as the answer to life's basic needs," stated the minister of Bethel AME Church.

Rev. Levi Brown along with his congregation have decided on an addition to the Sunday morning worship services. Each night at 7:30, December 18-21, at the church, 201 Grandin Rd., the Charlotte community can participate in the Ecumenical Festival of love--Evangelism at Christmas. The special program is a city-wide crusade, according to Rev.

Rev. Levi BrownFestival of Love leader He will deliver a differ- The guest soloist each ent message each night. evening will be Anne Rose

Poole; Rev. Paul Drummond will handle the "Offering of Love." Both are members of St. Paul Bap tist Church. The Greater Bethel Crusade Choir and other choirs will also be present nightly.

Sunday, December 18, special recognition will be given to senior citizens. The worship song leader will be Rev. Retoy Gaston of Clinton Chapel AME Zion Church. Monday's guests to receive special recognition will be all visitors from South Carolina. The worship song leader for that night will be Elder W. T. Roary of Zion Chapel Church of the Living God. Rev. William Lee Jr. of Silver Mount

Baptist Church will be the worship song leader for Tuesday, December 20. That night all attendants from cities within Georgia will be recognized. Then Wednesday night, the final night of the Crusade, North Carolina and all other states will be recognized. The worship song leader will be Rev. Rayfield Medcalf of Parkwood CME Church. Rev. Wilburn Sanders will also serve as a worship song leader that

Rev. Brown is looking forward to the Crusade because he wants to see his church and other churches work-more in the community. "We can make a See Ecumenical Page 6A night.