

Career Women's Disease

Although endometriosis has become known as the "woman's disease," it is actually a disease that can occur in any woman of child-bearing age. It originates in the reproductive system and may be responsible for severe pelvic pain and is often suspected to be one of the causes of infertility.

But many women who have the condition may have no specific symptoms at all. Undetected and untreated, endometriosis can cause serious damage to the reproductive organs. However, most women with the disease may be treated very effectively by methods that are best adapted to their specific problems.

WomanReach, Inc. and Community Health Services are co-sponsoring a support group for women who have endometriosis, on January 18 from 7-9 p.m. The group will meet at the 1416 E. Morehead St., Suite 304.

For more information and to register, call a WomanReach peer counselor at 334-3614 weekdays from 10-4 p.m.

All women welcome at WomanReach, Inc. where all our services are free to any woman. A United Way agency!

PMM Scholarship

The certified public accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company presented Dr. Taylor Cox and the Johnson C. Smith University Business and Economics Department with a $1,000 check for two $500 scholarships for students studying to be a CPA.

P.M.M. & Co. managing partner Crowder Falls emphasized the ample opportunities in Charlotte for CPA graduates.

"Without the financial and program support, such as Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company's, we couldn't accomplish the goals we set in making Johnson C. Smith University's business program a strong asset to the Charlotte business community," cited Dr. Cox.

Eddie Knox Expresses Deep Appreciation For Workers

Expressing a deep appreciation for rescue workers across North Carolina, Eddie Knox, Democratic candidate for Governor, has called for increased recognition and support for rescue squads.

"For the small amount of money expended by the state on these units, they are among the most valuable services in our communities," Knox said. "Having served as a member of the NC Medical Emergency Services Commission, I learned much about these services. I have never seen more dedicated, professional, public-spirited citizens in our communities."

Because of his close relationship with people in rescue services, Knox said he intended to support rescue squads in the following manner:

- Seek recognition of rescue squad workers as Public Safety Officers, thus enabling them to be covered by the PSO $50,000 death benefit the same as firemen and police officers.
- Explore means for the revision of the Governor's

Highway Safety Program provision of 50-50 matching funds for the purchase of ambulances.

"North Carolina needs a program that provides for the replacement of ambulances before the vehicle is totally depreciated," he said.

"Seek just compensation by the state for rescue squads that provide services to state facilities. Knox said he would consider several methods that might be used to reimburse rescue squads and he would look to the North Carolina Rescue Squads Association for recommendations on this matter.

-Explore the feasibility of establishing a rescue squad workers' relief fund similar to that already in effect for firemen.

"I will never forget the 15 months I spent as an ambulance attendant earning money to go to college," Knox noted.
