The events that transpired recently at Christ the King Center hopefully will become a yearly event.

During the first annual "Little Mr. and Miss Christ the King" pageant, Miguel Perry and Michelle Reel were crowned as the 1984-85 winners. The determination of winners was based on ticket sales. Over $900 was raised which will be used to support the center's future activities.

Capturing third place was Sheronda Wilson and Jon-Michael Houston and in second place was Octavia Seabrook and Steven Taylor.

The program, which consisted of parents and friends, began with the master of ceremony, Willie Newsome. Newsome acted as supervisor of the center for the summer.

Entertainment was provided by the contestants as they performed two selections, "He's Got The Whole World" and "Jesus Loves Me."

In addition to the crowning of the winners, awards of appreciation were given to Richard Banks, the center's director, Robert Robinson, Teresa Porter and Yvette Mills, assistants at the program. Willie Newsome was also given an award by the parents of the children who called themselves "Willie's Kids" for the guidance and dedication he showed the youngsters.

Other participants in the pageant were: Corey Nance, KJiev Ratchford, Natasha Harris, Lefisha Davis,
