Mrs. Koontz To

Woman Award

Elizabeth Duncan Koontz, a 1983 graduate of Livingstone College, was one of five to receive the Distinguished Women of North Carolina Award from Governor Jim Martin Friday night.

Upon graduation from Livingstone, she earned her master's degree in elementary education from Atlanta University. She has received over 30 honorary degrees in addition to many other awards.

A teacher in the North Carolina Public Schools from 1938 to 1968, she was chairman of the National Commission on the Status of Women.

Mrs. Koontz, assistant state superintendent of Public Instruction from 1972 to 1982, was the first black to be elected president of the National Education Association. In 1969, she was appointed by President Nixon as director of the U.S. Department of Labor, Women's Bureau. She was later named by President Carter to the National Advisory Committee for Women and chaired the North Carolina International Women's Year Coordinating Committee.

Mrs. Koontz is an advisory board member of the Institution for Education and Research on Women and Work at Cornell University and is a member of the Selection Committee for the Rockefeller Public Services Awards.

A proud and dedicated Livingstonian, Mrs. Koontz recently chaired the National Alumni Task Force which successfully completed a fund raising campaign designed to assist with scholarship aid to students. She also assists with the restoration of Duncan School and continued an extensive campus beautification program.
