Charlotteans Attend John Summersette's Funeral Services

Several people were on hand to celebrate the life of John Summersette. Gerson Stroud and poet, Langston Hughes, both personal friends of Summersette, made remarks. Others who were in attendance from Charlotte included Mrs. Daisy Stroud, Maurice Donald and Carl Hunt and former Charlotteans, Edward Donald and Charles Donald and their families.

Twenty-eight years of John Summersette's life was spent answering a call to teach.

Becoming an educator, imparting the knowledge he had acquired over the years to students who looked to him as their source of wisdom, was a calling that gave Summersette more fulfillment than anything else.

This man of dedication and commitment was recently funeralized at Mountain View Cemetery-

Gothic Chapel in Oakland, Cal.

A former native of Charlotte, Summersette was raised by two aunts who instilled in him, early in his life, the importance of education. Because of them Summersette had a life-long love for learning.

His former education included attending the prestigious Palmer Memorial Institute preparatory school. Both his master and bachelor of arts degrees, were earned at North Carolina College at Durham and his doctorate degree was earned at Stanford University.

Darson Bullard Jr. Assistant administrator

Charlottean Graduates From Indoctrination School

Darson A. Bullard Jr., son of the Rev. and Mrs. Darson Bullard, has recently graduated from the officer indoctrination school for naval officers at Newport Rhode Island. He will be assigned as an Assistant Administrator to the Naval Submarine Medical Center, New London Connecticut. There he hopes to enhance the operational efficiency of the hospital and at the same time increase the effectiveness of the health care delivery system. One of Darson's main reasons for joining the Navy was because he wanted to pave the way for other young Black Americans who aspire to become Naval Officers.

Ensign Darson Bullard Jr. holds a Bachelor of Science in Hospital Administration from St. Edwards University of Texas at Austin and El Paso respectively.

He is a member of the Anthony Bullard Memorial Sickle Cell Anemia Assn., and The American College of Hospital Administrators.

Currently he is working toward matriculating into the Hartford Graduate Program for advanced studies in Hospital Administration, where he eventually hopes to obtain a dual masters degree in Hospital and Business Administration.

Because of Darson's compassionate nature of people, he considers his purpose in life is to serve those who are unfortunately physically and mentally incapacitated.

Ensign Darson A. Bullard, Jr. wishes to express his most sincere thanks to these persons for helping him achieve this success and appointment:

Ret. Col. Cecilia McKenzie, Mrs. Leona Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Boydie Logan, Mr. James Green, Rev. M.M. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Workman, Mr. William Robinson, and most of all his parents Rev. and Mrs. Darson Bullard.

Course For Nurses

The Greater Carolinas Chapter of the American Red Cross will offer a teaching methods course for nurses who are interested in becoming volunteer instructors.

The teaching methods course will be held on April 16 and 18 from 6-9 p.m., at the Red Cross, 2425 Park Road. The course fee is $6.

Volunteer nurses teach a variety of health and safety courses including: "Family Health And Home Nursing," "Infant Care," "Baby-sitting," and "The Lowdown On High Blood Pressure." Following completion of the teaching methods course, volunteers can then take an instructors' course based upon their areas of interest.

For more information, call the Red Cross at 376-1661, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.

"Family Health"

The Greater Carolinas Chapter of the American Red Cross will offer a "Family Health And Home Nursing" course. Classes meet on April 15, 17, 22, 24, 29 and May 1, from 2-5 p.m., at the Red Cross, 2425 Park Road, Charlotte, N.C. The course fee for text and materials is $12. The volunteer instructor is Belle Radenbough, RN.

"Family Health And Home Nursing" is designed to help you learn how to prevent illness, promote wellness, and care for a sick family member at home.
