

Most of us look forward to shedding those excess coats and scarfs and emerging free as sea gulls. Speaking of sea gulls, these beauties are ready for a day in the sun and sand. Sabrena Mobley (l) and Kimberly Lee (r), both freshmen at Johnson C. Smith University, are ready for the Myrtle Beach crowd in their one-piece bathing suits. Each features low backs and the high French cut on the sides. The new swimwear shows less, but leaves more to the imagination. (Photo By Teresa Simmons)

A freshman from Jersey City, N. J., Terry Watson, a Johnson C. Smith University business administrative major, sports his plaid shirt, black burmuda shorts, white knee socks and black tennis shoes for a casual day in the park or perhaps a romp at Carowinds. For right now, though, he practices his techniques. (Photo By Teresa Simmons)

White dominates this couple's after five attire. Kimberly Lee, a Washington, D.C., native majoring in psychology at Johnson C. Smith University, brightens her white chemise full pleated tunic and enhances it with a white head band and long, thin earrings for an exotic appeal. Terry Watson, a JCSU business administration major from Jeroy City, N.J., sports a double breasted white linen suit accented with white shoes, white tie and sparked by a tan shirt.
