

Governor Jim Martin To Appear On Live, Phone-In Telecast

Governor James G. Martin, who has adopted the town meeting concept as a way of communicating directly with the people of North Carolina, will hold what is being described as "the first statewide town meeting" when he makes a live appearance on OPEN-net April 26.

OPEN-net, the Open Public Events Network, is a cable television network which brings to the people of North Carolina coverage of state government meetings and an opportunity to talk directly to state leaders in a live telephone call-in session.

Appearing with the governor will be Secretary Howard H. Haworth of the Department of Commerce and Secretary Aaron J. Johnson of the Department of Correction. Secretaries Haworth and Johnson accompanied the governor during a March 26 town meeting in Newton which was videotaped for OPEN-net.

"I am looking forward to my upcoming joint appearance with Secretary Haworth and Secretary Johnson on OPEN-net," Governor Martin said. "I hope many North Carolinians use this opportunity to discuss with me specific concerns."

The program will air from 8-10 p.m. on over 80 cable television systems and one public radio station serving more than 150 North Carolina communities. During the first hour of the telecast, viewers will watch a videotape of Governor Martin's Newton town meeting. In the second hour, the governor will be taking viewer telephone calls live on-the-air from the OPEN-net studio in Raleigh. The program will be moderated by veteran legislative reporter Fred Taylor of WRAL-TV, Raleigh.

Angela Hudson Is Setting Records

Angela Hudson has quite a track record at North Carolina State University.

She's a Dean's List student who will graduate May 11 with a bachelor's degree in zoology with a pre-medicine option, and she's the holder of NCSU records in discus throwing and shot put.

"I chose N.C. State because I was looking for a school with a good pre-med curriculum as well as a good track program," said the Boonton, N.J., native.

Hudson plans to take graduate courses this fall at NCSU to strengthen her background when she applies to medical schools.

And because of her knee surgery in her junior year, she'll have one more year of eligibility in track. "It's something I enjoy doing and it's been a good outlet for me," she said.

How does her ambition to "maybe make the Olympic someday" fit in with medical school plans? "I haven't figured that one out yet," Hudson said with a laugh.

In addition to academic and athletic pursuits, she is an active member of the Alpha Zeta honor and service sorority.

This past Christmas she organized the sorority's annual needy family program, which included not only providing a Christmas tree, food and gifts, but also several visits with the family.

..... President, Charlotte Club

NANBPWC

Plans Anniversary Celebration

The Charlotte Club of the National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. (NANBPWC) will hold an anniversary celebration on April 27-28. The national association is celebrating 50 years of serving throughout the United States during the month of April. The theme is "A Proud History-A Determined Future."

According to the Club president, Anna Hood, the Charlotte celebration will begin with a symposium focusing on black women and the economy. Participants are Barbara Gales, moderator and Club member; Marilyn Wright, CPA; Marnite S. Perry, attorney; Wilma Hood, nursing instructor; Ella Scarborough, administrative supervisor; Ruthie Giles, clinical coordinator and Club member; and Mae Orr, educator. The symposium is open to the public.

A Founder's Day Awards Luncheon will follow at McDonald's Cafeteria at 11:30. Featured speaker will be Frankie Jacobs Gillette, national president of NANBPWC, Inc. Scholarship awards will be presented to two local high school students, as well as to the Housing Authority Scholarship Foundation.

The Club's highest award, the Sojourner Truth Award, will be presented to retired nurse, Cleo Young.

Other festivities of the weekend celebration include a cabaret featuring styles and music of the 1930s at McDonald's Banquet Center at 9 p.m., Saturday; an 11 a.m. worship service Sunday at Memorial Presbyterian Church; a closed dinner in the afternoon; and a candle-light service of rededication for Club members. The Charlotte Club numbers 36 women in various businesses and professions.

Tickets to the Founders Day Awards luncheon are $10. Cabaret tickets are $5. For further information, contact Theresa Elder at 569-1681, or Connie Smith, 394-3262.

Mobility Devices

An "environmental control system" which permits individuals confined to wheelchairs to control household appliances, lighting, and other electrical accessories directly from their wheelchairs has been perfected by Fortress Scientific. The firm is a leading manufacturer of mobility devices for the disabled.

The system uses an ultrasonic transmitter built into the operating controls of the wheelchair. The transmitter has four channels which operate lamps, appliances, television sets, or other electrical devices by remote control.

Information on the environmental control system is available by writing to: Fortress Scientific, 61 Miami St., Dept. 1000, Buffalo, N.Y. 14204; or call toll-free, 1-800-387-3611.
