Dr. Wilbert Greenfield
Former JCSU president

JCSU Residence
Hall Named For
Dr. Greenfield

At its most recent meeting, the Board of Trustees of Johnson C. Smith University voted to honor former university president Wilbert Greenfield, by naming the newest Residence Hall after him.

The dedication ceremonies are scheduled for Friday, April 19, at noon in the front entrance of the new Residence Hall. Johnson C. Smith University president Robert L. Albright will bring the greetings. Dr. Matthew J. Whitehead, chairman of the board of trustees, will formally proclaim the naming of the hall, and Dr. Greenfield will give the closing remarks.

The new Residence Hall is a three-story, 220-student capacity residence center located behind Carter Hall men's dormitory, on the northeast side of the campus. Each of the three floors have lounge areas, study rooms and typing-computer terminal rooms. A small community kitchen, library and laundry facility are also featured along with a central courtyard for recreational purposes.

"This dedication represents five years of planning, fund raising, hope and hard work on the part of many people," cited Johnson C. Smith University president, Dr. Robert L. Albright. "Our entire university is pleased that the Board of Trustees voted to name the hall after Dr. Greenfield. The hall has served as an impetus in spurring Johnson C. Smith University to even greater efforts in completing the needed expansion of our facilities."
