

Giving A Room A Decorative "Fix" Is A Matter Of 1-2-3

If you want to give your room a decorative "fix" while keeping costs under control, it's a matter of 1-2-3. Before you go shopping, divide your home furnishings into three groups or levels to help control your attitude on spending.

Level 1: These are furnishings you purchase infrequently...beds, sofas, tables, chairs, drapes, wallcoverings and major furniture. Exercise caution and ask yourself, "Will I like this in two years? Five years?" Avoid trendy, "in" styles or colors you're unsure of. As your tastes change, can this piece adapt?

Level 2: Moderately priced items could be curtains, area rugs, occasional chairs, small tables, lamps. These might be changed without breaking the bank, but they're still costly enough to warrant careful thought.

Level 3: Here's where decorating fantasies can abound. Accent pieces and inexpensive or recycled accessories offer creative potential for exciting decorating. Indulge in a "tropical color" phase or try a "pastel period." In Level 3 you can be whimsical without wincing at the cost.

The "den" pictured was warmed with a country motif of Williamsburg blue, earthy brick, rust and beige repeated throughout the room in Level 3 items.

The window box, small table and window shade are accented with the self-adhesive Con-Tact brand "Pleasant Valley" pattern that plays on a little "village scene," as charming in a bathroom, kitchen or recreation room as in a den.

Borders of the pattern add interest (note diagonal borders on table). Even the mat in the picture frame can be made of self-adhesive coverings to save the expense of custom framing. Blue paint on the chair rail of the wall smartly complements the decorative borders.

Repeat the country pattern in fabrics. Complementary textures and colors soften the room and give it a cozy feeling...

pillows on the sofa, a blue mohair throw or a new area rug add dash. You'll be surprised how dramatic a statement you can make with items made from inexpensive yet fashionable materials.
