

Lipscomb Is Homecoming Chairman

By LaShun Lawson
Special To The Post
Keith Lipscomb is this year's homecoming chairman. The theme will be "Eat Them Alive Homecoming 85."

Keith was appointed chairman by Student Government President Darryl Sledge, Keith's assistant is Karen McAllister.

Keith and Karen have worked very hard in planning the homecoming week's activities. Each night of the week from November 3-9 will include an event to aid in getting everyone in the homecoming spirit.

Sunday night Miss JCSU and her court hosted a fashion and talent show for the campus queens. Monday night was the skating party and volleyball game, sponsored by the Student Christian Association.

Tuesday included the College Bowl and splash party; Wednesday was the Mr. Bull contest, and Thursday included an ice cream parlor and comedy skit.

Friday will bring the big events as the alumni play a basketball game, and the cheerleaders host the mock funeral, pep rally and bonfire. Later that night will be the pre-dawn dance featuring alumnus Gregg Lee.

The university band will give a wakeup call at 6:30 a.m. Saturday, followed by a 6-8 a.m. breakfast to prepare everyone for the big parade and homecoming game. The Greek step show and many other activities will follow the game.

Sunday will end the 1985 homecoming at dear old JCSU with a morning worship service in the university church and at 7 p.m. a Gospel Extravaganza. The JCSU family and the homecoming committee urge everyone to come out and join the fun.

Erik Andrews, 21, a junior from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., was in the Homecoming spirit Tuesday and sported a Johnson C. Smith University sweat shirt. Andrews stopped on the steps of the university's Administration building to chat with Eugene Maybin, 20, a political science major from Spartanburg, S.C.
