George Stevens Supervises NCM's Company Activities

George Stevens of Wilson is Regional Agency Director for the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Co. (NCM) in Durham.

He supervises the company's insurance activity in South Carolina and in the Piedmont and western sections of North Carolina.

Stevens, 46, began his career with NCM in April 1963 as an agent in Wilson County. He served as an agent until 1967, then became staff manager of the company's Greenville, NC, office. He was there one year before going to Wilmington, NC, to become staff manager of the Wilmington district office. He held that post until March 1973.

Then it was back to Greenville in April 1974, where he was named district manager of the Greenville district. He remains in that post until December 1977. It was in January 1978 that Stevens became Regional Agency Director.

Stevens has earned high marks during his 22-year career with North Carolina Mutual. He was named District Sales Manager of the Year in 1975 and in 1976 and was named Regional

He attends St. Mark AME Zion Church in Durham where he is a steward. Stevens is married to the former Gloria Howard, a secretary at North Carolina Central University in Durham. They have two daughters, Valerie, a freshman at A&T State University in Greensboro, and Kimberly, a 10th grader at a Durham high school.

Stevens graduated from Raleigh Business College in 1963. He has completed the Life Underwriters Training Council program and attended the Life Insurance Agency Management Association's school of District Management and the Life Insurance Management Research Association's Agency Officers School. Stevens is president of the Triangle Aviators Flying Club Inc., based at the Raleigh-Durham Airport and is a member of the Negro Air-men International Inc., an international flying club for blacks.

Bert Collins Making Great Strides

A near 20 year affiliation with North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company has afforded Bert Collins the privilege of making great strides within the company.

Beginning his career with N.C. Mutual, Collins was first an administrative assistant and now he serves as the senior vice president in administration.

Collins is a graduate of Huston-Tillotson College, the University of Detroit and North Carolina Central University Law School. He also participated in the University of North Carolina's "Young Executive Program." Both in the community, Collins serves on many boards and is involved in the Durham Rotary Club.

He is a member of the First Church of Christ Scientist, where he is currently a member of the board of directors. Collins also belongs to Kappa Alpha Psi.

He is married to the former Carolyn Porter and they are the parents of three children.
