

Al Jarreau— Live In London

To Air Wednesday Night

Multi-Grammy Award-winning jazz vocalist Al Jarreau performs before a capacity audience in the concert special, "Al Jarreau: Live in London," broadcast at 10 p.m. on Wednesday, March 5. Recorded at London's Wembley Arena during Jarreau's 1984 tour, this music event airs over the nine channels of The University of North Carolina for Public Television during the statewide network's "Festival '86."

Jarreau's stylish combination of jazz, rhythm and blues and self-written romantic lyrics have earned him countless awards and accolades, as well as a series of gold and platinum albums. "Al Jarreau: Live in London" is an unforgettable visual document of this dynamic and soulful performer.

Jarreau's unerring instinct for the heart of a song comes searing through as he performs some of his best-known hits, including "We're in This Love Together," "Let's Pretend," "High Crime," "Raging Waters," "Trouble in Paradise," "Our Love," "Take Five," "Boogie Down," and "Roof Garden."

Jarreau, who has earned a reputation as an artist of depth and substance, began singing at the age of four. The native Milwaukeean performed in local clubs and jazz festivals while earning a degree in psychology at Ripon College in Wisconsin. In 1975 he was signed to a recording contract, and his debut album, "We Got By," was released to unanimous acclaim.

Jarreau received a Germany Grammy for Best New International Soloist in 1975. In 1976 his second album, "Glow," earned him a second Germany Grammy. In 1977 and 1979 he received American Grammy Awards for Best Jazz Vocalist. He garnered two more Grammy Awards in 1982 for Best Male Pop Vocalist and Best Male Jazz Vocalist.

Jarreau has been named Male Vocalist and Best New Jazz Act by Performance magazine and Vocalist of the Year by the French Music Academy. Cashbox, Downbeat, and Stereo Review magazines all have singled him out for top spots in their annual music awards.
