Information About Arthritis

People in North Carolina now have information about arthritis at their fingertips with a new toll-free tele-phone number. The Arthritis Foundation is testing a national tollfree information service in this area. The service is called the Arthritis

Foundation Answer Line: The Answer Line provides general information about the more than 100 forms of arthritis and about programs and services of the Arthritis Foundation's North Carolina Division. Callers may also request referrals for medical or community services. The Answer Line is the first national toll-free number for the public to use for arthritis informa-tion, according to Dan Litz, Execu-tive Director of the North Carolina Division. The Arthritis Foundation, he explained, is testing the service in five areas of the country including North Carolina

North Carolina. "This toll-free telephone number is for people who need our services but presently have to make a toll call to reach our office," Litz said. The Arthritis Foundation's Answer Line operates between 10 a.m. ET and 5 p.m. ET. The service can be reached by dialing 1-800-422-1492.

Linda Geiger Believes In The Best For Her Brookhill Neighborhood

By Joe Brown Post Staff Writer

When it comes to improving the area and providing the needs of the neighborhood, no one does it better than Linda S. Geiger and the Brookhill Community. This leader believes in the best for her neigh-borhood and proves it in the end results

The Brookhill Neighborhood is located along Distributor Avenue to South Tryon to Remount Road to Village Court to Tremount Avenue. The area consists of 425 apartment

Ms. Geiger has been president to the Brookhill Community since 1975 and improving has always been the major goal. "The Toomey property has al-ways been a major problem. It had come up several times at the city meetings. It was to be rezoned to place warehouses there, but we fought it for years. Now, a church is built there," claims Ms. Geiger.

"The community park was im-proved with the help of the City by planting trees, replacing garbage cans, putting out water fountains and other things."

Other improvements in the area include the drainage problem and the lights on Barringer and Remount Roads, said Ms. Geiger. The Brookhill Community offers a number of programs to the residents in the area. Ms. Geiger says the senior citizens are given food baskets every year and children are diskets every year and children are given candy on Halloween. The neighborhood participates in the clean-up program twice a year to beautify the area. The Brookhill area has a special summer program in which they randium or most from in which they receive a grant from the Mott Foundation.

the Mott Foundation. "This is the second year we are receiving this grant. The first year we got $4,200 and this year we are going to receive $6,800," confirms Ms. Geiger.

"The money is used to pay the youth $3.35 to work jobs in the neighborhood and it pays adults $25 to supervise them." The officers of the Brookhill Community Organization are Linda S. Geiger, president; Doreatha Carter, secretary; and Martha McDonald, treasurer.

There is a caring atmosphere that hovers over Brookhill, especially to the senior citizens. "We took our senior citizens to McAdenville to the Christmas lights and also took them

To Heritage USA," told Ms. Geiger. "We help old persons or persons who have been hospitalized or can't pay their rent. If we can't help them we refer them to the Bethlehem

Center or some other agency to help them "-

Ms. Geiger says the participants from the residents varies at the meetings and certain events, but coming together has always been important. She says it is according to what it is that brings the response of the residents. Meetings are held every second Monday of each month at 7 p.m., 621 Village Court or the Bethlehem Center for a Court or the Bethienem Center for a large meeting. Ms. Geiger relates a message to the Brookhill Community. "We have been trying to get crime watch in our neighborhood. We have been trying for a number of years. Our next goal is to get crime watch, because of the birds watch of the birds in a high rate of break-ins.

"We are trying to make it a clean and better and safer neighborhood, so pitch in to keep it and improve it," she urges.

Ms. Barbara Dillinger is a close associate with the Brookhill Community and knows the improvements the area has come through.
