

Academy Award winner Angelica Huston talks about her collaboration with father John Huston and boyfriend Jack Nicholson on "Prizzi's Honor," when she visits "PM Magazine," Monday, April 14, at 7:30 p.m. on WBTV, Channel 3.

Mountain Songs, Stories

Folk musician Jon Singleton will present "Music and Tales From the North Carolina Hills" at Family Day at the Charlotte Library, Sunday, April 13, at 3 p.m.

Singleton will tell mountain stories, sing traditional songs, and demonstrate many old time mountain instruments, including the banjo, fiddle, guitar, dulcimer, jaw harp, and mouth bow. He will play the same mountain tune, "Old Joe Clark," on each instrument to show differences in sound. Members of the audience may be invited to try their hand at making mountain music, too.

Singleton has had an interesting career as a performer. At one time he was a fiddler for the U.S. Park Service, on a canal boat on the C&O Canal.

The April Family Day program is sponsored by Showbiz Pizza Place in Carmel Commons on Highway 51. The program at the Charlotte Library, 310 N. Tryon St., is free and open to the public. For more information, call the Library, 336-2725.

UNCC Jazz Ensemble To Present Concert

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte Jazz Ensemble will present its 1986 spring concert on Sunday, April 20, at 3 p.m. in the Rowe Recital Hall. The time has been changed from an originally announced evening concert.

This group, which performed earlier this spring for both the Beaux Arts Ball and for the Charlotte Jazz Society, will feature both the big band and smaller groups -- including the Jazz Improvisation

Class. Standards such as "Green Dolphin Street," "I Can't Get Started," and "Time After Time," will be mixed with more contemporary works such as "Back Bacon Blues" and "Latin Schizophrenia."

In addition, vocalist Amanda Herman will do a record copy of "All the Things You Are" -- originally performed by Ella Fitzgerald and the Basie Band. Finally, Ray Alexander -- well-known Charlotte trumpet professional, will be featured on Maynard Ferguson versions of "Maria" and "The Spirit of St. Frederick."

The concert is free to the public. For more information, call the Performing Arts Department at 597-2599 weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.
