

Sandra Chapman, far right, director of the School Workers Federal Credit Union, looks on during the ribbon cutting for the organization's new facilities. Bob Davis, Jr., presided over the occasion, which was held July 20. The Rev. Marion B. Jones, pastor of Grace AME Zion Church, gave the invocation and members with 30 or more affiliations with the church were recognized.

New Zion Young Adult Missionary Group sponsored the church Gospel Chorus in concert July 20 at New Zion Baptist Church. During intermission the Young Adult of the Year was crowned. Directors are Rev. James Davis, Vanessa Gray and Virginia Williams.

Mayor Harvey Gantt, left, joins Rosena Gaines, Bob Walton, and a board member during the dedication ceremony of the School Workers Federal Credit Union on July 20. Ms. Gaines is president of the credit union's board of directors.

Views Out And About

Richard F. Sherman, President of Church's Fried Chicken, Inc., with Rev. Jesse L. Jackson. Sherman presented Rev. Jackson with the F.D. Patterson Award and a $1,000 scholarship in Jackson's honor to North Carolina A&T State University during the Leadership Awards Banquet of the National Association for Equal Opportunity in Higher Education in Washington, DC.

Exchanging greetings before the start of the first of a series of open house performances sponsored for the Dance Theatre of Harlem by Philip Morris Companies, Inc. were, from left: Jessye Norman, the Augusta, Ga.-born opera soprano, Stephanie French, Manager, Cultural Affairs, Philip Morris Companies, Inc., and Arthur Mitchell, Executive Director, Dance Theatre of Harlem. Ms. Norman and the Theatre's dancers performed "Songs of Mahler," and "Amazing Grace," among other dance and vocal works for an enthusiastic audience. The open house series is designed to bring the world renowned Dance Theatre of Harlem to the local community.

Radiator Specialty Company recently honored its former employees during the firm's annual retirees' day. Retired employees were treated to a luncheon and gifts from the company. Mr. Blumenthal, the president is in the middle of the back row.

Anheuser-Busch Chief Salutes minority Business. August A. Busch III, chairman of the board and president of the world's largest brewing organization, conveyed his personal support for minority business development at the Interracial Council for Business Opportunity's ICBO national dinner meeting. Busch (above center) co-chaired the group's annual program held recently in New York City. Shown with the "King of Beers" chief are (left to right) Earl G. Graves, publisher, Black Enterprise magazine, and ICBO board member; Malcolm L. Corrin, ICBO president; and William J. Kennedy, dinner co-chairman and president of North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company.

MEAC CHAMPS, AGAIN -- For the third consecutive year, the men's tennis team at South Carolina State has captured the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference's tennis championship. The three-time champions, who won a school record 21 matches against just three losses, accomplished their latest feat at the MEAC Spring Championships (April 18) at Orangeburg, SC.

Pictured (left to right), coach Thomas Saxon, Scott Ross of Atlanta, Reggie Glover of Orangeburg, Ralph Hunt of Durham, James Stanfield (the meet's outstanding performer) of Washington, DC, Willie Jones of Atlanta, Todd Sherman of Miami, Eddie Exsum of Estill (SC) and John Jones of Ft. Myers, FL.