In The Words Of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

"Everybody can be great. Because anybody can serve. You don't have to have a college degree to serve. You don't have to know about Plato and Aristotle to serve. You don't have to know Einstein's theory of relativity to serve. You don't have to know the second theory of thermodynamics in physics to serve. You only need a heart full of grace. A soul generated by love."

NEW DRUG EASES ALLERGIES

If you're one of the 40 million Americans who suffer with hay fever, you may be in luck. You may be able to avoid the symptoms and the sleepy side effects normally associated with antihistamines. Seasonal allergic rhinitis, or allergies, are caused by inhaling one of the many types of pollen species that inhabit the earth. When these microscopic pollen grains meet the human nose, they land on the mucous membranes of the respiratory tract where certain cells, called mast cells, are abundant. Antibodies, or proteins, are attached to these cells and cause an allergic reaction. Antihistamines, first introduced in 1946, were an effective way to relieve allergic symptoms but they had a major drawback - they can sedate their users into a dangerous sleepiness that makes working, driving and other activities difficult or even dangerous.

AMERICANS SUFFER FROM UPPER RESPIRATORY ALLERGIES

There could be good news for the more than 40 million Americans who suffer from upper respiratory allergies (URA).

Fourteen years of research has resulted in a new antihistamine which can alleviate allergic symptoms without producing the sleepy side effects. Seldane is available by prescription only. In tests, people were about as likely to feel sleepy when they took a placebo as when they took this new drug. You can ask your doctor about this drug that may ease your pollen troubles forever.
