This Spring Use Color Choices To Their Greatest Advantage

When choosing the hues to color your wardrobe for Spring '87, you have the option of choosing the best colors from past seasons combined with a choice of novel shades being introduced this year. In color, Spring '87 offers a wide array of color choices used to their greatest advantage.

The brilliant colors that were first seen last spring and carried through Fall '86, are still on the scene for Spring '87. This season, however, the brights, such as: emerald green, vivid cobalt blue, hot pink and fuchsia, unmellow yellow and red, are showing up for use in wardrobe accent pieces. For example, check out the smart leather handbags in these colors—shoes, too. If hats turn you on, the most fun ones to wear this spring will be in bright colors. Finally, leather and suede jackets and skirts in brilliant colors are blazing their way into spring, especially when mixed with whites.

The reason the brilliant colors are being primarily used as accents this spring is because Spring '87 has ushered in neutrals and pastels as the main shades to be seen in this season. As one fashion forecaster has described, "Pastels and neutrals give sweetness to spring for day or evening." Linen, Spring '87's favorite fabric, shows the neutral colors of beige, ivory, and tan at their best. Khaki, which can be considered a neutral, has made a major comeback for Spring '87. Another fashion color tip: "The seasons best mixes are pastels with black."

"Ebony and Ivory" creates beautiful harmony together it has been said, and it's that's certainly true in fashion this season. The back to basic black and white combination is one of the sharpest spring looks this year. Make sure you have something—anything—in black and white polka dots this spring.

Navy blue and white is also Spring '87's pick as a harmonious and eye-catching blend in color. Navy and white stripes, frequently called the "nautical look" is revamped and revived with excitement this season.

On the subject of blue, it's imperative to note that the indigo blue of denim is the hottest color for leisure wear this spring. For over 10 years, denim has never really gone out of style. But Spring '87 is the season that has the blue of blue jeans at the peak of perfection.

Hey Guy!

Keep a bottle of fragrance in your gym locker for after-shower use. Also, try rubbing cologne on sweaty palms—the alcohol will keep hands cool and dry and will give you a surer grip on your racquet or other sport equipment. A bottle of cologne in your desk or glove compartment can come in handy for emergency before-date reapplications.
