

Adams And Scott Unite

The lives of Clydenia "Charisse" Adams and Ulysses Scott were solemnly united as one on April 30.

The 5 p.m. ceremony was officiated by Rev. Robert H. McDowell of Dallas, N.C. and Rev. Dewey W. Smith of Kings Mountain, N.C. The ceremony took place at Queen's College's Belk Chapel.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was enchanting in her long white gown of bridal satin in crystaleen organza. The satin gown featured dropped waistline, a low scalloped neckline, and short ruffled organza sleeves, that extended into a slender look to the waistline. Appliques of beaded imported silk lace accented bodice and sleeves. The slender satin skirt was designed to floor length and bordered with scalloped cutout lace. A large satin bow enhanced with lace and cascade of dropped pearls accented the back waistline. A detachable cathedral train with rows of organza ruffles completed the gown.

The bride chose as her head piece a fingertip mantilla attached to a venise lace halo accented with scallop pouff and pearls. The illusion was enhanced with small laced daisies.

Reshika Brown was the maid of honor. Vivian Jones was the matron of honor.

The bridesmaids were Madeleine Watkins, L'Tanya Pharr, Karen Wallace, Faye McDowell, Vivian Dowe, Mary.

The bridesmaids wore long taffeta gowns in a daphne color. The full skirt gathered at the waistline were ascending in the back with large silk-fabric bow finishing the cascading ruffles, with a V cut back bodice.

The flower girl was Faith Spivey and the junior bridesmaids were Shermetta Watkins, Donna Scott, Maria Scott, Kelly Scott, with Billie McClain, and Carolyn Terrell as honoraries.

The bridesmaids and hostesses wore long gowns in rosette taffeta. Large silk-fabric bow accented the back bodices. Full skirt gathered at the basque waistline fell softly to the floor length hem.

As the best man, the groom chose Tyroon Scott.

How Do I Attract Him?

Dear Carole,
There is this guy I really care for but he acts like I don't exist. We go to the same school. I'm afraid now that I may lose my chance to get him to like me because school is almost over.

What can I do to turn him on?
"Running Out of Time"

Dear Running Out of Time,
What have you done, so far, to get him to notice you? If you have classes together, talk to him about your classwork. If you don't have classes together, start a conversation about any school activity. Talk to him about him, not about you. Get his attention first, before you think about how to "turn him on."

Don't worry about running out of time. If the two of you can "connect," the two of you will make a way to have all the time you need.
