

'Moonlight Over Charlotte' Stirs City

Celebrate Mardi Gras in a special way at "Moonlight Over Charlotte", the third annual party to benefit the American Cancer Society on February 18, 1989 from 9:00 p.m. until 1:00 a.m. at Cityfair.

The black tie or costume Mardi Gras party will light up Cityfair after the merchants close down, and will feature food, drink, dancing, and a special silent auction. The $35 ticket price includes an open bar, a Cajun buffet (with food flown in from New Orleans especially for the event) and music by Brice Street. Jazz singer Daryl Rice will make a special appearance.

Party-goers can bid on several silent auction prizes throughout the night, including original art, gifts and services. Basketball fans will have a special chance to bid on autographed balls from the Charlotte Hornets, the University of North Carolina, and Duke.

Fat Tuesday's is catering the buffet, which will feature jambalaya, shrimp etouffee, crawfish, and a special frozen drink from that popular bar. Acquired Tastes Catering will supplement their offering with crudites and special coffees.

The event is being underwritten through the generous support of The Dunhill Companies, and with the cooperation of Cityfair and Fat Tuesday's. Other corporate sponsors include Aetna Life & Casualty, SteelFab, Inc., Peat Marwick Main & Co., IRM Services, Inc., D.L. Phillips Company, Dixie Trucking, General Steel Drum, Gemsco, Inc., W.M. Parris & Associates, Gold Bond Building Products, Catawba Char-Lab, All Season's Travel, John Crosland Company, and Newton Fibers.

The Dunhill Hotel is offering a special "Moonlight Over Charlotte" package which includes two tickets to the event, a weekend night's stay in a luxury room, brandy, chocolates and turn-down service, plus breakfast the next morning at the Thistle Restaurant, all for only $125. The hotel stay may be applied any weekend night until April 30, 1989, subject to room availability.

The American Cancer Society is presenting "Moonlight Over Charlotte" for the third year. "The event is targeted at the younger members of the professional community" said Sally Barber, chairman for the event. "In addition to being a lot of fun, it's a great way to raise money for this worthy cause." For ticket information, please call the American Cancer Society office at 376-1659, or write to "Moonlight Over Charlotte," 500 E. Morehead St., Suite 211, Charlotte, NC 28202.

Accounts of Blacks At City Library

February is Black History Month, and to help celebrate, the Public Library of Charlotte-Mecklenburg has compiled six bibliographies to assist patrons in locating and selecting literature relating to all aspects of the Black Experience. Children will enjoy titles such as Jambo Means Hello, Ben's Trumpet, and The People Could Fly. Juvenile age readers will find biographies on Bill Cosby, Olympian Carl Lewis, and George Washington Carver inspirational and entertaining. Older readers should especially enjoy nonfiction selections such as African Crafts You Can Make and the poetry of Langston Hughes or Nikki Giovanni.

The free bibliographies are available at all Charlotte-Mecklenburg branch libraries. Additional information is available from the Library's Public Relations Department, 336-2074.

Opening Doors to Better Business

"When we got new PC's for our office, five of us went straight to CPCC for training in Lotus 1-2-3. It was a two-day workshop and cost $17. About the middle of the second day the light suddenly dawned and we understood what all the excitement is about. Thanks CPCC." Virginia Bush, Bush Stationers
