

Corso Is Named Assistant Basketball Coach For 'Cats

John Corso has been named an assistant basketball coach at Davidson college, joining his former high school coach and two of his high school teammates.

Davidson coach Bob McKillop was Corso's coach at Holy Trinity High School on Long Island. At Holy Trinity two of his teammates were Don Hogan and Matt Doherty, who earlier were named assistant coaches for the Wildcats.

Corso was a standout as a prep player for McKillop at Holy Trinity High School in Hicksville, NY, where he graduated in 1978. While at Holy Trinity, Corso led the team to three straight New York State Championships. Holy Trinity's records during these three years were (20-4), (21-3) and (19-4). He was Catholic High School Association Honorable Mention All-American, first-team all state and Holy Trinity's MVP his junior and senior years.

Corso started his collegiate career at the University of Florida in 1978 and transferred to Davidson after that year. He eventually graduated from Adelphi in 1983 and completed his MA at Adelphi in 1986.

After receiving his MA, corso became the Head Coach at the freshman and J.V. level at Holy Trinity. Then, he went to work for McKillop at Long Island Lutheran where he was an assistant coach and assistant programs director at the largest basketball camp on Long Island. He turned down the chance to replace McKillop at Long Island Lutheran in order to come to Davidson.

"Bob helped me as a player, guided me through college, and helped me with my master's," Corso said. "Working at a Division 1 school and working with Bob is like a dream."

Corso will be in charge of the recruitment of underclass recruits, the organization and administration of Davidson's summer camps, academic liaison, floor coaching duties, and scouting.

"John's addition further strengthens the chemistry of our staff," McKillop said. "He's a talented teacher and very capable administrator. By turning down the opportunity to succeed me at Long Island Lutheran High School to join us here at Davidson, John has demonstrated a unique sense of loyalty and commitment."

Corso is single and is interested in outdoor activities such as running. He is also a fine cook.
