Wachovia's Home Loans

 energy and resources of residents, community organizations, city officials and Wachovia personnel on targeted areas where there is a commitment to improving property values, said Hugh M. Durden, Wachovia regional vice president in Charlotte.
 After consulting with city officials, Wachovia is now contacting residents of two neighborhoods in Charlotte where the program will be initially launched.
 The other cities where the program is offered are Durham, Greensboro, Raleigh and Winston-Salem. It will be expanded statewide in the near future to the other North Carolina communities Wachovia serves.

The loan program offers favorable interest rates, high loan-to-value ratios, reduced closing costs and flexible credit guidelines. New underwriting rules allow a homeowner to devote a higher portion of monthly income to the mortgage payment than is permitted in traditional mortgage lending.
 "Home ownership is an essential ingredient for a thriving neighborhood," Durden said. "All aspects of this program are designed to make it easier for residents to purchase a home or to renovate their current residence."
 Wachovia will provide funding for the loans. The loan program has been reviewed by city officials, who see significant opportunity for cooperation with and participation in it, Durden added.

 Loans will be available for the purchase of single-family, owner-occupied primary residences, including townhouses and condominiums.
 "The areas participating in the program will have one factor in common -- residents' desire to improve their neighborhoods through increase home ownership and housing renovation," Durden said.
 For details of how the Neighborhood Revitalization Program will be implemented in Charlotte, contact M. Francie Bonney, 378-5440.
