

John Stewart

URBAN PICK WINNERS:

Mercury Tracer and Ford Escort, for best urban vehicle under $12,000. AAOW's Managing Editor, Jacqueline Mitchell (center), presents awards to: Jim O'Connor (left), vice president and general manager of Lincoln Mercury division and Ross Roberts, vice president and general manager of Ford division.

VEHICLE OF THE YEAR:
1997 Toyota Camry.

John Stewart

JAGUAR ANNOUNCES INTERNSHIP:

Jaguar President, Mike Dale, announces its internship program for a student pursuing a career in automotive communications. Randi Payton (left), and hostess Sharon Oliver look on.

Karen Goodson

THE C.R. PATTERSON AWARD FOR EXECUTIVE OF THE YEAR:

Winner, Roy Roberts (right), vice president and general manager of Pontiac-GMC shares a moment with Frank Fountain (center), vice president, Chrysler and Bill Brooks (right), vice president of Corporate Relations, General Motors.

John Stewart

THE EDWARD DAVIS AWARD FOR COMPANY OF THE YEAR:

Chrysler executives accepting award are: Diane Mercer-Pryor (left), executive director of Operational Purchasing and Special Supplier Relations; Frank Fountain, vice president and Jim Julow, executive director of Corporation Marketing. Randi Payton, AAOW publisher, presented the award.

Karen Goodson

CERTIFICATE OF ACHIEVEMENT:

Gregory Bowens, assistant to the Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer, presents AAOW with citation on behalf of the city of Detroit.