The late Ida Kohlmeyer, who lived and worked in New Orleans, in "Monotype #9" presents a very colorful, celoratory print with what looks like an airplane, a heart and "XXX's that seems to say Happy New Year," "Happy Mardi Gras."

The show has an extra special moment. From 1960, Wolf Kahn who was later famous for his bold pastel landscapes has the most subtle small painting "Two Sail-old party." Vincent said.

"Going into the new year, you want to be comfortable."

Vincent said it doean't get better than being in PJs. "It's a great idea when you have so many people dealing with change when they go into the New Year," he said. "Instead of going out and buying that gown, you can go out and buy a satin pajama set."

This $35 party includes a free buffet, bonfire, give-aways, old school music and cash bar. Vincent said this isn't a lingerie party, adding that a nice pair of satin PJs will get you in the door just like a lace teddy would.
