JOHN C. RIVES. Washington city, Oct. 12, 1854. some remarkable examples, showing the great loss sustained by England in the history of its statesmen, and of its national progress, through the imperfect state of parlin-mentary reporting in former times. He opens his life of Lord Chatham thus:

"There is hardly any man in modern times, with the exception, perhaps, of Lord Somers, who fills so large a space in our history, and of whom we know so little, as Lord Chatham; add yet he is the person to whom every one would at once point, if desired to name the most succeasful statesman and most brilliant orator that this country ever produced. Of Lord Somers, indeed, we can scarcely be said to know anything at all. That he was a person of unimpeachable integrity, a judge of great capacity and learning, a firm friend of liberty, but a contious and safe counsellor in most difficult emergencies, all are ready to ackrowledge. But the authority which he possessed among his cost nue tatics, the influence which his sound and practical wish in excreised over their proceedings, the serrices which he was thus enabled to render in steering the constitution safe through the most trying times, and saving us from arbitrary power without paying the price of our liberties in anarchy and bloodshed—nay, conducting the whole proceed uses of a revolution with all the deliberation, and almost in the forms, of an ordinary legal proceedinghave surron ded his name with a mild yet imperishable glory, which, in the contrast of our dark ignorance respecting all the part culars and details of his life, gives the figure something altog they mysterious and ideal. It is now unfortunately too late, by supplying this information, to fill up the outline which the incagre records of his times have left us. But dressingular how much of Lord Chatham, who hour hid within the memory of the present generation, still r. is mon vague trialition. As a statesnan, indeed, here's known to us by the events which history has recorded to be exponential under testation; reteven or how in bringing dass phone little has has left behind it, that far more is manifestly lost than has Wholesale and Retail, by reached us; while of his written compositions but a few letters have hitherto been given to the world. "The imperfect state of parliamentary reporting is the reat cause of this blank.

What Somers and Chatham have lost in fame by the oblivion of all the masterly efforts of their minds, which, of the nation has also losi for want of the vigor and verity, at the new Book Store, by the clearness the freshness, and beauty with which its events and their causes might have been preserved in the luminous eloquence of its oratrrs. The great mon who conducted our revolutionary struggle John Franklin, A personal narrative by Elisha Kent Kane, n the great Continental Congress have left no history behind them of the views and events which had their birth in their debates, except in the meager formula of a journal. The fervid feeling of the hour, the impelling circumstances, the argument, the eager controversey, which set the sub-ject in every variety of light; passed away with the breath that gave them utterance; and men who were not surpass-ed, in the opinion of Lord Chatham, by "the master statesmen of the world," have bequeathed to posterity nothing graphic history becomes when the actors in it speak for themselves, and events as they emerge stamp themselves July 1. Congress has now taken care that this sort of genuine history shall fall from the press, full and perfect, day by day; and thus every public man will make his own history, and blend it imperishably with that of his country. The Congressional Globe and Appendix is so voluminous that it can only be read by onr busy countrymen partially during its progress. Some are interested in one measure, some in another. Different sections look for the most part to the action of their several representatives -the concerns of one frequently possessing no interest for the rest-and amidst the mass it is difficult for each section, or individual, to get at the special matter most interesting to them. To obviate this, and enable all to get a glauce, a general view of the entire proceedings of Congress, and to fix their attention on what suits their particular views, I will publish in future, in addition to the Daily Globe and the Congressional Globe and Appendix, a Tuesday's Congressional Globe, containing a brief of each day's debate on every important subject discussed du-ring the preceding week, arranging the names of the ring the preceding week, arranging the names of the prices. speakers pro and con., and presenting the points dis-cussed and leading arguments on each side, somewhat in cussed and leading arguments briefs are prepared. It will contain, besides, the interesting miscellany which is given in the Daily Globe, and the Washington gossip of the letter-writers, extracted from the different newspapers which employ them, whenever they shall be esteemed of such import as to interest the readers of the Globe, and bear such probability on their face as to warrant their insertion. The evening edition is the one most suitable for subscribers who live out of this city, as it will contain, besides ed in the morning edition, a full synopsis of those of the day, together with the news by telegraph; and from other sources, up to the hour that it is put to press. It will contain, also, all laws and joint resolutions passed by Congress. The Congressional Globe and Appendix will also be prin-ted on a double royal sheet, in book form, royal quarto size, each number containing sixteen pages. The Congressional Globe will be made up of the proceedings of Congress, and the running debates as taken down by the reporters. House, New-York, dated Jan. 5, 1854. To Prof. HOLLOWAY, 38, Cor. of Ann and Nassau sts., N. Y.

Sir : It is with the most heartfelt pleasure I have to inform you that I have been restored to health and strength by taking your Pills. For the last ten years, I suffered from a derangement of the Liver and Stomach, and was reduced to such an extremity that I gave up my Ship, never expecting to go to Sea any more, as I had tried every Remedy that was recommended to me, but all to no purpose; and had given myself up to despair, when I was at last recommended to take your Pills. After using them for three months, the result is that I am now in better health than I have been for eleven years past, and indeed as well as ever I was in my life. You are quite at liberty to make this known for the benefit of others. I remain, sir, yours respectfully,

JOHN JOHNSON. Signed ; These celebrated Pills are conderfully efficacious in the following complaints :-

Debility, Head-ache, Scrofula, or Dropsy, Indigestion, King's Evil, Billious Complt's, Erysipelas, Jaundice, Stone & Gravel,
