Judge Douglas in Raleigh.

The Standard, to hand this morning, brings full tion in Raleigh on Thursday. The Convention was New York. c dled to order by R. P. Dick, Esq., of Guilford, who expressed much pleasure at seeing so large an assemblage, and hoped that a spirit of generous reconciliation would pervade their councils. He sketched the history of the Charleston Convention, and the causes which led to the final disruption of the Convention & Baltimore, alleging that the advocates of Congressional intervention for the suppression of slavery were alone responsible for that calamity. His remarks were loudly applauded throughout.

At the suggestion of Mr. Busbee, this motion was reconsidered, and amended by leaving the number of copies at the discretion of the Committee. Dr. Piermont of Pasquotank, addressed the Convention, and was followed by Mr. J. T. Rosser of Minnesota

IL W. Miller, Esq., being loudly called, excused himself temporarily and introduced Dr. Kean of Rockingham.

Messrs. Miller and Howerton subsequently addressed the Convention.

On motion of Mr. Pennington, the thanks of the Convention were tendered to the Chairman and Secretaries.

The President expressed his high gratification at the harmony which had pervaded their deliberations. And then the Douglas Convention adjourned sine

In our perusal of a book, "Five Years in China," we make the following extract. It may seem strange to us in their manners of salutation. but the writer states that these are not their exact words, but very near them :

"What is your honerable name ?" " My insignificant appellation is Wong." "Where is your magnificent palaces." " My contemptable hut is at Sue-hau." "How many are your illustrious children ?" "My vile, worthless brats are five." "How is the health of your distinguished spouse ? "My mean, good-for-nothing old woman is well." In visiting one another, on leaving the house you must back along out, bowing to the host and shak ing your hands all the way. He (the other) follows you doing the same and repeating "Slowly go, slowly, slowly go." This signifies his reluctance at your departure.

Great enthusiasm prevailed at Raleigh on the arrival of Mr. Douglas. He was met at the depot by a committee and quite a crowd of persons, and was welcomed by Henry W. Miller, Esq. Mr. D. responded briefly, being indisposed from cold. The Standard says "by his free and unrestrained manner he won the favor of all who called upon him. He left for Richmond yesterday morning.

NEW STAGE ROUTES .- Mai, D. G. McRac, contractor on the route between this town and Fair Bluff intends on or about Sept. 10th to put a mail and passenger coach on that part of the route between this and Lumberton. His schedule will be arranged in connection with that of the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Road which, it is expected, will be completed to Lumberton in a few weeks .-The contractor hopes to arrange a schedule so that passengers may reach Wilmington in nine hours. The distance to Lumberton is but 34 miles and the road excellent, so that the staging will be by daylight and only six hours. Tri-weekly trips and two horse coaches, with which the service will begin, will be changed to daily trips and four horse coaches if the travel is sufficient.

We hear also, that Messrs. C. S. Barbee & Bro. are now negotiating for the establishment of a stage line from Newton R. Bryan's (the nearest point to Raleigh on the Western Railroad) to Raleigh. If made, the arrangement will materially lessen the time and fatigue of the trip to and from Raleigh, substituting about 30 miles of railroad travel for 20 miles by stage.-Fay Observer.

CEOPS, POLITICS, &c .- The Editor of the Greensboro Times writes to his paper from Goldsboro': I have never found the North Carolina Railroad n such excellent condition in all my travels upon it. Slavery vs. Freedom-A Slave Refuses her Freedom---Curious Habeas Corpus Case, Yesterday, Judge Ludlow had before him a curious case, involving the liberty of a colored woman. It seems that in July, Mr. Wm. T. Conquest, a citizen of Virginia, came to this city, bringing with him his slave woman Sina. Some friends of the colored race, being made acquainted with the facts, determined to make her acquainted with her legal rights as a resident of Pensylvania. On Monday, Judge Ludlow was presented with the following petition : To the Honorable the Judges of the Court of escaped this nonsense. #### Physical Education-The Strong Man and how he became such.

The public have been not a little interested, for a few years, in occasional accounts of Dr. Winship, the "strong Yankee's" experiments in physical selfeducation. He is but about twenty-six years old, five feet seven inches in height, and weighs one hundred and forty eight pounds. He can lift eleven hundred pounds, and is now the best example of physical education in the United States. He was eventeen years of age before he began his experiments, and was then but five feet high, and weighed only one hundred pounds ; his health was not good, for he already suffered from the usual dyspeptical troubles of American youth. So great have been his improvements, that he now declares it to be his system of training. He instances Mr. Warren's tes- need only say, try it. timony respecting a veteran invalid, who began gymnastics in his seventeenth year, with very salutary effects; and, of course, old Cornaro (famous in Adgymnast, began in his fortieth year to restore a broken constitution, and lived a life of health and of enviable cheerfulness till his one hundreth year. But what has been the efficacious theory of the strong Yankee? He has given it in the Massachusetts Teacher, but, unfortunately, in an article of too great length to be read much. We propose to take unusual liberties with his communication, in order How, then, has the Yankee doctor surpassed all give the most essential particulars, presenting them. however, with our own numeration :

3. He has taken nearly every day, about a half hour's gymnastic exercise, in the open air, and his is an example of the surprising moderation with which he has accomplished surprising results. 4. He has eaten heartily of such food, animal and vegetable, as agreed with his stomach, scouting the maxim that "you should leave the table hungry." He began not to recover from his dyspepsia till he

THE ATLANTIC CABLE .- The efforts to raise the Atlantic cable have been unsuccessful, and those who were engaged in this work have given up in despair. The cable is broken in so many places that nothing can be done with it.

A young lady who graduated recently in Virginia, has been committed to the Insane Asylum at Raleigh, N. C. Her friends attributed her mental aberration to the reading of Milton's Paradise Lost.

WHY ARE THE PRAIRIES TREELESS ?- The Westerners, when they speculate on geology, ar swer this question by affirming that the prairie fires have burnt them all off-that they have been frightened out of existence by the fires of the Indians. At other times they vary their theory by affirming that the absence of trees is due to the deficiency of rain ; but neither does this stand examination, for the maps of the distribution of rain show that the fall on the prairies about equals that in other regions. Mr. Whitney, in his paper on the Origin of the Prairies, read before the Scientific Congress, shows that the real cause of the absence of aborescent vegetation lies in certain mechanical conditions of the soil, and in its extreme finencess. - Western Paper.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE SOLAR ECLIPSE .- The Boston Advertiser publishes the following communica-

Recent advices from Europe bring interesting details of observation made upon the total eclipse or the sun, on July 18. The photographic pictures of of the corona which encircles the sun, and of the flame-like clouds suspended in its atmosphere, will be of the greatest service in any future investigation It was also resolved, that it was the duty of that of these phenomena. Hitherto the astronomer has been obliged to depend solely upon his eye for observation, and upon his note-book and pencil for recording the impressions derived from a hurried glance at the principal features presented. The short interval of but three or four minutes, which is all that the duration of totality allows for the examination of the corona, has been far too little for an accurate survey of its details. We have now, however, self-impressed pictures of undoubted fidelity.

A copy of the photograph obtained in Spain by Mr. De La Rue has been received in the observatory of Harvard College, through the kindness of Mr. Carrington, secretary of the Royal Astronomical Society of London. The apex of the highest flame is seen to reach an elevation of above 80,000 miles above the surface of the sun. Two distinct ranges of cloud-flames occupy together an extent of 1,000. 000 of miles in length. Other masses, quite isolat ed from the sun, and approaching in size the larger planets, are floating it its atmosphere. The plates procured by Mr. De La Rue are thought to have suffered by over exposure, which has probably injured the more delicate features of the picture. By the mere accident of a sudden gust of wind disturbing the telescope at a critical moment, it was ascertained, when too late to profit by the experience, that the chemical action of the light of the corona was much more rapid than had been supposed ; so that, in future, not only better defined images, but obscured. BATTLE CREEK, MICH., Dec. 21st, 1858. PROF. This induced me to pay Briggs & Hodges almost the last cent I had en earth for a two dollar bottle of thy Hair Restorative about the first of August last. I have faithfully followed the d rections and the bald spot is now covered with hair thick and black, though short, it is also coming in all over my head. Feeling confident that another large bottle would restore it entirely and perminently, I feel anxious to persevere in its use, and being destitute of means to purchase any more, I would ask thee if thee wouldst not be willing

PROF. O. J. WOOD : Dear Sir :- In the latter part of the year 1852, while attending the State and National Law School of the State of New York, my hair, from a cau-unknown to me, commenced failing off very rapidly, to that in the short space of six months, the whole upper part of my scalp was almost entirely bereft of its covering and much of the remaining portion upon the side and back part of my head shortly after became gray, so that you I have known of there being in the market a miserable and worthless spurio s Balsam. In purchasing, I always look for that prepared by S. W. Fowlz & Co., Boston, which has the written signature of I Burrs on the wraptances were to recognize me at all.

I at once made application to the most skillful physical cians in the country, but, receiving no assurance from them that my hair could again be restored. I was forced to become reconciled to my fate, until, fortunately, in the latter part of the year 1857, your Restorative was recommended to me by a druggist, as being the most reliable Hair Restorative in use. I tried one bottle, and found to my great satisfaction that it was producing the desired effect. Since that time, I have used seven dollars' worth of your Restorative, and as a result, have a rich coat of very soft black hair, which no money can buy.

The returns of the census indicate that the inhabitants within the corporate bounds of the city of Richmond, Va., number nearly 40,000, and its suburbs contain from 10,000 to 12,000 inhabitants, making the whole population, city and suburban, more than 50,000 souls.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.-The following anecdote in extracted from the London Court Journal :

A distinguished author was recently overtaken in a shower, and took refuge under a portico at the West End. A young and beautiful lady, who was at the window, after looking attentively at him for a moment, sent a servant on with an umbrella. The next day the delighted author dressed himself up to his last result of the problem of what he thought was becoming, and as the umbrella was an old one. laid it aside as a souvenir, and purchasing one of the costliest taste called on the lady to return her flattering loan. She received the new umbrella evidently without marking the change, and after listening with curious gravity to the rather pressing tenderness of the dramatist's acknowledgments, she suddenly comprehended that he was under the impression that she was enamored of him, and forthwith naively explained, as he stood in the way of an expected visit from her intended, who wished to umbrells to get him off her front steps !

Such is an outline of Dr. Winship's system. It is singularly sensible ; it is almost universally practicable, except, perhaps, the prescription about sleep. Could it be generally adopted in the United States, we doubt not that, in one generation, it would reduce the medical faculty fifty per cent., and the rates of life assurance correspondingly, and render us the most vigorous and most long-lived nation on the globe, as we are now decidedly the "smartest."

A MONUMENT TO THE HEROES OF THE CRIMEA. - A monument is in the course of erection in Waterloo place, Pall Mall, London, in honor of the guards who fell in the Crimea. Upon a pedestal of granite, with Jan 14 three, in the costumes of the Coldstream, Grenadier and Fusilier Guards. The figures are between eight and nine feet high, and of bronze. Behind them is a trophy of real guns from Sebastopol, with shot and shell. If the plate in the Builder of the 11th instant is not, as plates so often are, an improvement upon the sculpture, it is a work of the rarest and saddest fidelity. Mr. John Bell is mentioned as the artist, and it is difficult to divest the mind of the pall which a contemplation of his group throws over it. There the manly figures stand, looking like those who had taken leave o' everything but duty and death; in their attitudes and faces a steadiness and solemnity so severe and mournful that every incident we have read of their heroism and slaughter in the trenches, and fields of the Crithe sculptor's hand.-English Paper.

It is said that when Mr. Douglas was at Rutland Vt., and just as he was entering the hotel, a large Irish woman rushed up and grabbed him in her arms, and kissed him.
