THEIR CHICKENS BY FAR THE BEST

Won in All the Fights at Rock Hill Without a Single Loss.

The last of the Salisbury delegation, numbering nearly one hundred, that witnessed the great chicken fights between Salisbury birds on the one side and chickens from Western, N. C., Tennessee, South Carolina and Georgia, returned to Salisbury last night.

The fight was held in a licensed pit at Rock Hill, S. C.; and although Governor Heyward ordered the sheriff to prohibit them, the mains went merrily on. Not a Salisbury chicken was killed, while every one of the opposing birds was put out of business for all time.

The Salisbury party returned $5,000 or more to the good.

AT THE CENTRAL.

The Firm's Banquet to be Given Next Thursday Night.

It has been finally decided by those having the matter in charge to have the banquet to the Salisbury Fire Department at the Central hotel on next Thursday evening, January 4th. Covers will be laid for fifty and in addition to the members of the department the policemen will be present. A part of the amount subscribed has been set apart for the colored firemen and will be given them as cash presents.

MR. WITHERSPOON RETURNS.

Will Live in Salisbury as Mr. Buford's Chief Clerk

Mr. and Mrs. T. Edgar Witherspoon returned to Salisbury this morning from Mobile, Alabama, where Mr. Witherspoon has lived since last spring and Mrs. Witherspoon since her marriage in October.

Mr. Witherspoon will re-enter the railway service here as chief clerk to Capt. A. Buford, agent for the Southern here. The return of his popular couple to Salisbury is delightful to their friends and especially Mrs. Witherspoon's home coming. As Miss Julia Allen Ramsey, she is remembered and loved by everybody.

Remember the Orphans.

The children of the First Baptist church Sunbeam Society are getting up a box for the Orphanage. Already quite a lot of serviceable things have been given. If any kind-hearted person reads this notice, it means an invitation to help in the blessed work. Either money, clothing to fit boys and girls ranging in age from six years to sixteen, caps, hats, shoes, underwear or hose will be gladly received. Sent to the Baptist church house not later than Tuesday noon. Mrs. Mary J. West, the efficient, president of the Sunbeams, will see that everything is sent as directed.

The Bible says: "A pure and undefiled religious service before God and the Father is this: To visit the orphans and widows in their affliction; to keep himself unspotted from the world." Jesus Christ, the friend of all mankind, said, in speaking of doing good to others: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Are not helpless orphans God's poor?

This invitation is not limited to church members. But every person in Salisbury is invited to have a part in this blessed work.

Yours sincerely,
WM. H. RICH,
Pastor 1st Baptist church

PRINTERS ON STRIKE.

FOUR WALKED OUT YESTERDAY.

The Salisbury Job Office to be Run as Open Shops.

A notice was posted in the composing room of the Gabe Royall Printing Company's job office yesterday afternoon stating that, beginning January 1, 1906, the business would be conducted as an open shop, and that nine hours would constitute a day's work. A few minutes later the two union men, one apprentice and one press boy employed in the office left their cases, put on their coats and returned to work. None of them have returned, and declare they will not do so until the terms of the contract entered into with the Typographical Union are complied with. It is also announced that the job office of Mr. J. B. Doub and Mr. W. H. Stewart, and the Carolina Watchman, of which Mr. Stewart is editor and proprietor, will be open shops after today.

The causes leading up to the strike of yesterday are generally known. Heretofore nine hours have constituted a day's work. The contracts with the above offices call for an eight-hour day, beginning January 1, 1906. The three establishments named refused to inaugurate the eight-hour day, and herein lies the rupture.

Mr. F. B. Irvin, secretary of the Salisbury Typographical Union, made the following statement this morning:

"No trouble whatever was anticipated with the Gabe Royall Co., as the union notice contracts, made on August 21st, 1905, for a period of one year, ending August 21st, 1906, calling for the employment of union printers, and agreeing to establish the eight-hour day on January 1st, 1906. These contracts are signed for the company by Mr. G. M. Eoyall, president and general manager, and by the president and secretary of the local union and the president of the international union.

"We also have the same contracts for the same periods with the Stewart Printery, signed by William H. Stewart.

"Mr. Doub's contract with the union expired on December 19th, and no new agreement could be reached.

"The offices of Mr. Stewart and Mr. Doub do not affect a single union man, Mr. Stewart and a boy doing his work and Mr. Doub only employing one hand, and he an apprentice."

Mr. G. M. Eoyall, manager, and Mr. Max L. Barker, secretary and treasurer of Gabe Royall Printing Company, said: "We cannot afford to operate on the eight-hour basis. It would mean a daily loss, and it would only be a question of time until we would be compelled to suspend business."

DANCE LAST NIGHT.

"GO WITH US OR DIE"

A DARING MORNING ROBBERY

Mr. C. M. Smith at Pistol's Point Obeys Highwaymen's Command.

Mr. C. M. Smith, baggage master at the Southern station, was halted, searched and robbed at a pistol's point this morning about half past four o'clock. The hold up occurred on South Main street near the corner of Main and Monroe and the robbery consisted of three blocks away. It was one of the most daring crimes ever committed in Salisbury and though the officers have been hard at work on the case since it was reported by Mr. Smith no clue sufficient to lead to an arrest has been found.

Mr. Smith boards on Chestnut Hill and was on his way to the depot this morning to meet No. 8, the local passenger train from the South which arrives here at 5:17. He was in front of Mr. Theo. Burbaum's residence near the corner of Main and Monroe, when a white man stepped from the shadow of a large tree and said, "Hello, pardner, where are you going?"

Mr. Smith told the man he was on his way to the depot and quickened his pace. The man caught him by the arm and ordered him to stop up. At this juncture a tall negro emerged from the shadow and the white man threw a pistol in Mr. Smith's face and commanded him to throw up his hands. The command was obeyed with alacrity.

"Now, you will go with us to Fulton street," said the white man.

"But I am in a hurry," protested Mr. Smith.

"Go with us or die" was the answer to this objection. Mr. Smith no longer hesitated and the men led him to Fulton street and at a conspicuous spot near through his pockets. He had but $2 in cash and after they had relieved him of this amount he was ordered to "git and git quick." The highwaymen disappeared in an opposite direction as their victim resumed his journey to the depot.

Mr. Smith describes the white man as being short, stoutly built. His features were almost entirely concealed by the collar of a heavy sweater which he wore. The negro was tall and slender. Mr. Smith could not get a good view of his face.

A SALISBURY AUTHOR.

Rev. J. H. Fesperman Soon to Publish His Ministry of Love.

Rev. J. H. Fesperman, a son of Salisbury, is the author of four different interesting books. These books have had wide circulation. They have been ordered and placed in the colleges and public libraries of many States, and have been read and publicly commended by distinguished critics, scholars, authors and preachers. The books have found circulation in every State in our Union, and have been read and indorsed in Germany, France, India and Africa. Rev. Fesperman has the encouragement to know that his books have been read publicly in missionary meetings and that they have been appreciated by literary men and women everywhere. He has received at least one thousand fine testimonials in favor of his literary labors. He now has a manuscript entitled "The Ministry of Love" ready for publication. The writer has read Mr. Fesperman's "View of Christ and the Scriptures," and the manuscript of "The Ministry of Love." The latter, dedicated to the wife of the author who died in 1900 is Mr. Fesperman's crowning work. Lively sentiment and beautiful diction mark every sentence and one turns from page to page with eager interest. This book will shortly be in the hands of the publishers and a cordial reception and instant success are assured.

REV. RICH CALLED AGAIN.

The Morganton Baptists Invite Him to Become Their Pastor.

Rev. W. H. Rich has received an invitation to become pastor of the Morganton Baptist church. He now has the call under consideration and will probably make answer next week. The call was entirely unexpected to Mr. Rich. All Salisbury will hope that he will not leave this field in which he has accomplished so much.

TEAM RUNS WILD.

A Buggy Smashed and Pedestrians Taken to Trees.

The double team of the Salisbury Coca Cola works made a mad run from the station today up Council for three blocks and by a circuitous route to the company's sales house on South Main street. One of the salesmen in the wagon was thrown violently to the ground after the team had run about a block but luckily escaped hurt, other than a few bruises. The driver jumped after the runaway passed the court house and was badly shaken up. As the team passed the court house the wheels of the wagon struck Sheriff J. J. Jure's buggy and a wheel was smashed into kindling. Further up Council two ladies in a buggy who observed the horses dashing down the street, turned their horse's head, jumped from the buggy and sought safety. Crowds of people were attracted to the scene of a miracle that serious results did not attend this runaway.

SALISBURY IS FORTUNATE.

The Entire Trip of John Griffith, Born in Salisbury, S. C.

Mr. J. G. Griffith, the eminent tragedian and company which appear at the theatre on next Friday night in a play to revivify "King Richard the Third," is one of the few actors of our day who can play the life of a noble Shakespearean.

Mr. Griffith's young man received his training under the great tragedian, Mr. Booth and Barrett and has for the last 10 years spent his life in Shakespearean drama.

Mr. Griffith has with him a supply of ten or twelve car full of scenery and electrical effects and a complete outfit for the proper production of the play.

Some of the few one-night stands the company plays on their way to New Orleans, where they are booked to produce a series of Shakespearean plays. The company comes here from Greensboro where the Normal Catalog last year sent 30 of their students to witness the performance and which they anticipate doing again this year.

The performance should receive the support of all our theater-goers, who demand the best, for it is seldom we have the opportunity of witnessing so able and stendopulous a production as Mr. Griffith will present to us on Friday night of next week.

The young man was on the pilot of a switch engine and as it neared No. 36 which was going North he jumped and fell, the wheels of the engine and two cars passing over both legs, crushing them horribly above the knees. The unfortunate man was brought to Salisbury and taken to the Whitehead-Stokes sanatorium. He will probably die.
